We, in love and admiration dedicate this our volume of the

Ole Miss

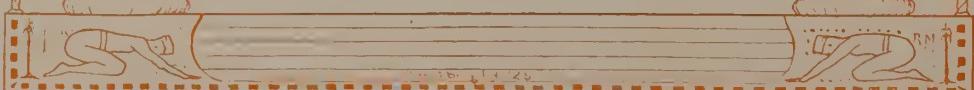

ALFRED HUME, C.E., D.Sc., LL.D.
Vice-Chancellor

Foreword

It is with an anxious fear that we watch the introduction of our volume of the "Ole Miss." We have labored long and faithfully in its creation and only hope to hear the proverbial "well done, thou good and faithful servant," from our masters, the student body, before we sink again into our state of idle content.

When your life has run its course, and fortune has done its work with you; when the light is growing dim, and the shadows are deepening all around, your life will be merely one of memories—pathos, anger, sweetness, pleasure, and work, and work, and work. But out of it all will loom up crystal clear, amidst the dark and distant past, your college days, the happiest of your life, dedicated to our Alma Mater. When memories of Ole Miss will mean the reliving of days of carefree happiness long gone by, you will, perhaps, take our volume from off the shelf, where it has lain in the dust these many years, and with it enjoy, for an hour or so, the poignant grief and hopeless longing that always comes with vivid recollections of a happy youth. Then, and only then, will we receive our recompense for our nine months of labor in preserving for these future times the record of one short year.

THE UNIVERSITY

*For let Philosopher and Doctor preach
Of what they will, and what they will not—each
Is but one Link in an eternal Chain
That none can slip, nor break, nor over-reach.*

—Rubaiyat of Omar Khayam.

BOOK ONE

JUNIOR STUDE: "Now we are going through the Memorial Gateway to the campus. It is pretty at times and you may enjoy it."

FRESHMAN CO-ED: "Oh, I am just wild to see it!"

HE: "The Lyceum is the oldest building on the campus—erected in 1848. It contains the chancellor's office, and is where you meet the discipline committee.
SHE: "Me?"

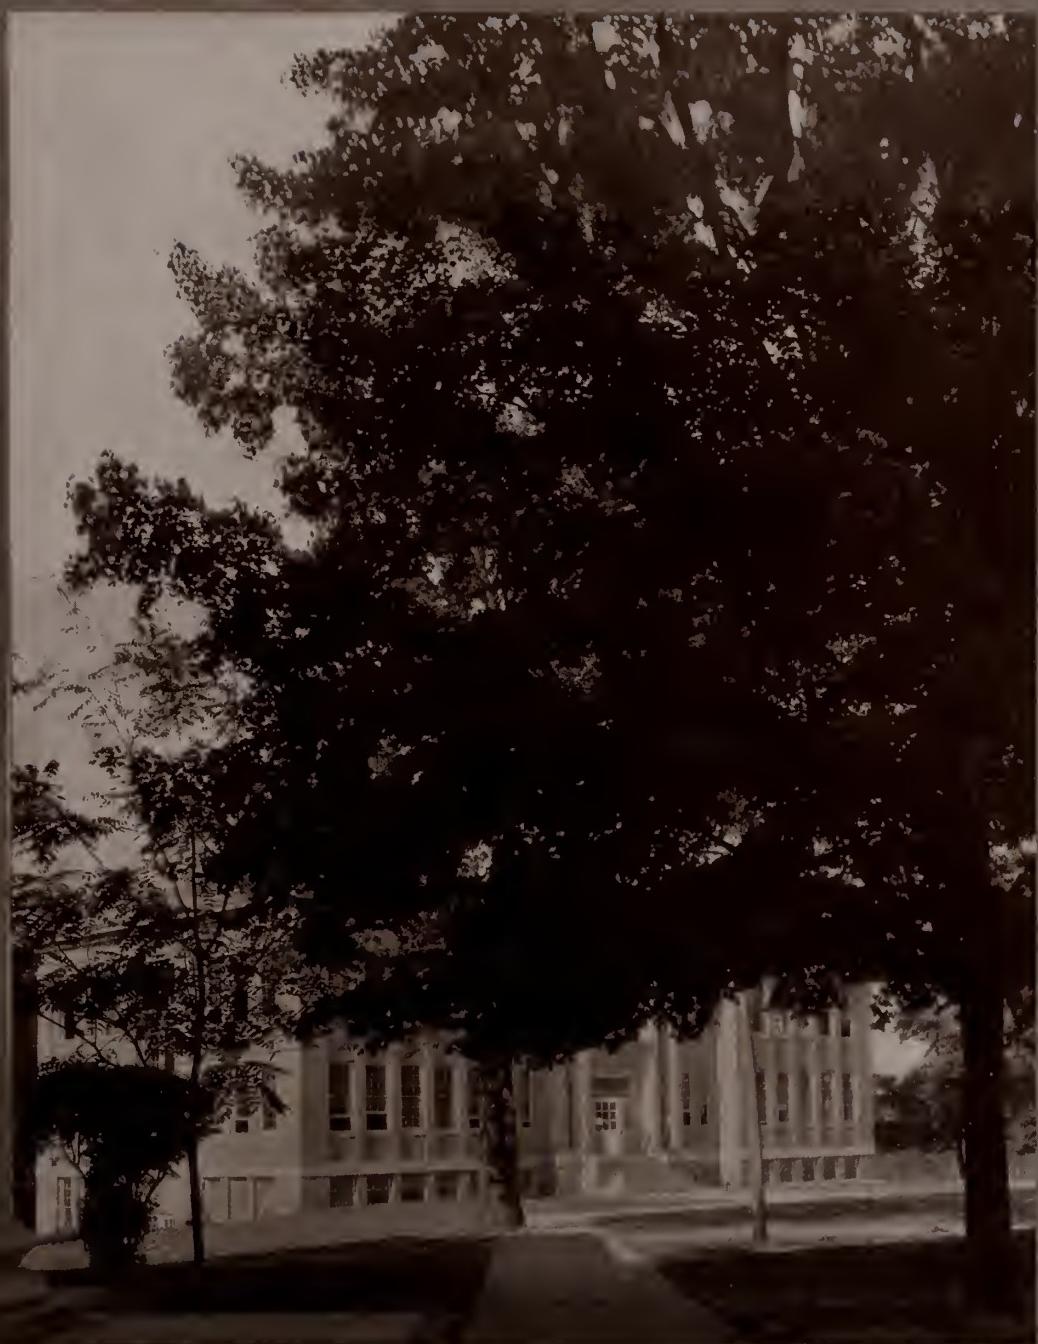

He: "This is the Confederate monument, erected in memory of the University Grays of '60.
It has been the meeting place of fond lovers since time immemorial."

She: "How historic!"

He: "The center of the campus is crossed by paths leading to classrooms of all kinds and descriptions."

SHE: "But I don't like classes!"

HE: "The campus is really beautiful. A scene like that is like a snatch of song—with the music unheard and the words unspoken."

SHE: "You mustn't be romantic in the daytime."

HE: "This is the library. It is big and deathly quiet. It's mighty hard to slip in a date there on a week night."

SHE: "Oh! Really?"

HE: "The foot-bridge is beautiful in daytime, and not a bad place at night."
SHE: "How do you know?"

SENIOR CLASS OFFICERS

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

WILLIAM BENJAMIN ABBOTT, JR.,  $\Sigma N$  . . . . . Natchez, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Tulane, '19-'21

Billy came to us after having served as the editor of the "Tulane Hullabaloo," and he has maintained the "rep" that such an honor brings. He is one of the best writers on the campus, and should make a great success of journalism. His likeable personality makes him particularly fitted for it.

JACK ABERNATHY . . . . . University, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Jack is to finish in three years, thus demonstrating more than the average amount of intelligence. During his stay he has been a very popular man, and we feel that the future holds nothing but good for him.

ISABEL AINSWORTH . . . . . Hazlehurst, Mississippi

Honor Council, 1, 2; Latin Club; Greek Club.

A girl possessed of the languorous ease of the Southland; but with a surprising degree of ability beneath that quiet, for she is a university Senior. Any of her many friends can give a good account of Isabel. She has made a splendid impression during her four years here.

HILDA JULIA ALEXANDER . . . . . Las Cruces, New Mexico
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Pre-Med Club, 2, 3; Co-ed Cheer Leader, 3; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 2, 3, 4; Secretary Education Club, 4.

Hilda likes everybody and everybody likes Hilda. Her whole-hearted college spirit, pep and energy, combined with the qualities of a good student, number her among the best of Ole Miss.

RUTH DENT ALEXANDER . . . . . Vaiden, Mississippi

Sophie Newcomb College, 1; Legislative Council, 2; Latin Club; French Club; Education Club; Annual Staff, 4.

Ruth, if we were asked to describe you, we should say plquant, friendly, capable, smiling, joyful, resourceful, strong, and stop for lack of breath. We are not sorry when our co-eds are judged by you.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

RIVERS APPLEWHITE,  $\Phi M$  . . . . . Jackson, Mississippi
 BACHELOR OF ARTS

Millsaps College, 1, 2, 3.

Rivers has had only a short stay with us, but during that time she has made numerous friends among the boys and girls of the campus. We wish she had been with us longer.

WILLIAM MARION BARROW . . . . . Swifton, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4.

This one is hard to classify. He is a most versatile man, having interests in many places and fields, but the chief one is Greenwood. Marion is a good dancer and a mighty good fellow, besides being somewhat of a student upon occasions.

CHARLES E. BUCHANAN . . . . . Jackson, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Vice-President Pre-Medical Club, 1; Masonic Club.

Charley Buchanan is one of the types who are most widely known, but very little understood. He doesn't appear to be so very intelligent on first acquaintance, but really he is one of the brightest men of the campus and by far the wittiest. His popularity goes without saying.

REX L. BURROW . . . . . Prentiss, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Glee Club, '19; Phi Sigma, '21; Secretary, '21; American Legion, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, '21; Vice-President Senior Class of Liberal Arts, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3, 4.

The sarcastic vice-president of the Senior Class. His election attests his popularity. His future is as yet unknown, but it is sure to end brilliantly, for the beginning is most auspicious.

MARY FLORENCE CARNATHAN . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Greek Club, 3, 4; Education Club.

We do not doubt that Mary Florence will make a success of everything she attempts to do. She is as capable as conscientious.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

MARIE T. CLARK . . . . . Natchez, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Legislative Council, 4; Vice-President Y. W. C. A., 4.

Marie is a conscientious student, a real sport at play and a true friend. What more could you wish a girl to be?

SAMUEL MONTE CLAYTON, JR., A X A . . . . . Como, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

University of Texas, '20, '21; Southwestern University, '22; University of Mississippi, '23, '24; Freshman Track Team, '23; Cotillion Club; B. S. C. Club.

He must be very attractive, judging from his success with the girls, and we wouldn't dispute the evidence (he gave us four bits for that!). Really a mighty likeable fellow and one appreciated by his friends. We wish him the best of luck in love and out.

WILLIAM W. COMBS . . . . . Meridian, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS
Glee Club, 4.

Combs is a quiet fellow, but he has a very engaging personality, which is making him well liked in spite of the fact that he has been with us on'y one year. He has made a real success this year in the Glee Club which makes his popularity assured.

AMY KATHLEEN DONEY . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Latin Club, 2, 3, 4; Education Club, 4.

Judged by scholarship Kathleen is an "A" girl; judged by sincerity of purpose and honesty of friendship she is also an "A" girl.

MARY LAVERTE ELMORE . . . . . University, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE
Education Club, 1, 2, 3, 4.

This curly-haired Senior seems to have correctly observed the Go'den Mean, for she is equally remembered as a very creditable student and an active "socialist." No sincerer compliment can be paid you than to say we're glad you are named Mary, remembering the beauty of that name.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

RICHARD BECKETT FANT, A Φ E . . . . . Columbus, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee, 3; Cabinet, 4; Mississippian Staff, 3; French Club, 1; Scrub Football, 2, 3; Track Squad, 2, 3; Hermacan, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 3; Taylor Medal in Physics, 2; Debating Council, 4; Historian Senior Class, 4; Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4; Delegate to Blue Ridge, 3; Alpha Phi Epsilon; "Ole Miss" Staff, 2; Assistant Editor-in-Chief, 3; Editor-in-Chief, 4.

Always friendly, always helpful, always decisive, and at all times interested in others—that's Beckett. The "Ole Miss" of '24 represents but one of his many accomplishments as a student at Ole Miss, from all of which there radiate his congeniality, optimism and his dogged determination.

JESSE D. FINCH . . . . . Booneville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

A. E. F. Club.

The one who made a mistake and tried to get a group in Calculus and almost missed it. He is, however, diligent and persistent and is certain to succeed. He is to be admired in every way.

ROBBIE LUCILLE FITE . . . . . Moscow, Tennessee

BACHELOR OF ARTS

M. S. C. W., 1, 2; Greek Club; Latin Club, 3, 4; Legislative Council, 4.

When the end of our college life is reached, and we remember the friends that are made there, Roberta Pugna shall be one. And you are not so misnamed, after all, for you are ever ready to fight for the glory of your Alma Mater.

SANFORD CHARLES GLADDEN . . . . . University, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Latin Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Teachers' Club; Hermacan, 2, 3, 4; Taylor Medal in Greek, 3; Treasurer Hermacan, 3.

Old Socrates is our standby. Without him the scenery wou'd be incomplete. A conscientious student, a fast friend and a very likeable nature combine to make him well known and popular.

MABEL GODWIN . . . . . Blue Mountain, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

B.A.; Blue Mountain College, '23; French Club; Greek Club.

Mabel's friendly manner and happy disposition have won for her many friends among both the professors and students.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

LEWIS FRANKLIN HALL . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Big and happy-go-lucky Lewis has dug a deep niche for himself in the heart of Ole Miss. A good sport, a sincere friend and a loyal supporter of the university.

JAMES DANIEL HARDY . . . . . Gulfport, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Intercollegiate Debater, 3, 4; Hermaean; Greek Club; Y. M. C. A.; Promotion Committee.

James is truly said to be one of the brightest men on the campus. He attended Southwestern in '21, '22, but returned back to his state institution last year to receive his degree this year. We are expecting great things of him.

JOHN FLOYD HUDSON . . . . . Shubuta, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Phi Sigma, 3, 4; Country Club, 3, 4; Greek Club, 3, 4; Cotillion Club, 4; Education Club, 4; Medical Club, 4; Y. M. C. A., 4; Millsaps, '21, '22; "Ole Miss" Annual Staff.

Whenever we hear the name of "John F" on the campus we at once think of that popular, ever-smiling person whose good nature radiates, even to the remotest corner of our little sphere. A good sport, a booster of athletics and a "Hello" for everybody has won him a host of sincere friends who wish him the "very best" of luck in his chosen profession—medicine.

HARRIET JEMIMA JACKSON . . . . . Water Valley, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS

Latin and Greek Club, 2, 3, 4; Vice-President Greek Club, 4; Secretary-Treasurer Greek Club, 3; La Circle Francaise, 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer Senior Class, 4; Marionettes, 3, 4; Editor of Co-eds Corner, 3; Sponsor of Phi Sigma, 3; Y. W. C. A. Cabinet, 3; Secretary, 3; Secretary Sophomore Class, 3; Executive Committee, 4.

Harriet, if only your potentialities be developed and realized, much glory will be added to our college annals. Paragons of virtue are rare, but there is in you a full measure of everything that adds to make life beautiful.

ONEY SHAW JOHNSON, Σ A E . . . . . Clarksdale, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4; Marionettes; Masonic Club; Assistant Business Manager "Ole Miss;" Chairman of Opening Cotillion Ball.

Shaw is almost entirely occupied with romance and so does not have much time for we students. But nevertheless he is looked up to as somewhat of an authority on some questions. His dance was one of the biggest successes of the season, for instance.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

JAMES HARDING JONES . . . . . Greenwood, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Greek Club; Latin Club; Education Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Webb School, four years; Hermacan, 2, 3, 4; Debating Council, 2, 3; President Greek Club, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer A. E. F. Club, 4; Student Assistant Latin, 4.

In Jimmie Jones we find one of the best all-around fellows and as true a son to Ole Miss as any that ever came to this institution. He has played his part in both the Latin, Greek and Education Clubs, and especially should be complimented on the success of the Greek Club this year. Jimmie, our best wishes and heartiest good will go with you.

GRATZ JONES, JR. . . . . Batesville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Varsity Baseball, 3; Education Club.

Gratz, by rights, does not belong to be graduating this year. He should take another year at least in order to more thoroughly master his work. He deserves much commendation for the way he stuck by the baseball scrubs until at last he won the coveted "M."

ROBERT TAYLOR KEYS, II KA . . . . . Sardis, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Millsaps College; Blackstone Club; Masonic Club.

His depth of mind is of astronomical dimensions. He is always prepared and has never been known to miss a question. Notwithstanding, however, he is a capable man, and is greatly admired by all who know him.

LAVERGNE LUCIEN LAMAR . . . . . Pine Valley, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Lavergne has drunk deep of the spring of knowledge. We wish her all the success that she so richly deserves.

MATTIE LOUISE LIPSCOMB . . . . . Water Valley, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Cercyian Club, 1; Latin Club, 1, 2; Greek Club, 2, 3; Ravens, 3; Teachers' Club, 3, 4; Taylor Medal in English, 2.

Witty, lovable and true, Mattie Louise is one who can work when it is time for work and play as hard as she has worked.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

JACOB W. LINDSEY . . . . . Ripley, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Phi Sigma, 3, 4; American Legion, 3, 4; Teachers' Club, 3, 4.

Quiet, but a very valuable man on the campus. One of firmness, determination and diligence. He has allied himself with the good forces of the campus and is well liked by everyone. The best of the world's fortunes is our invocation for him.

THOMAS O. MABRY . . . . . Verona, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

LaGrange, 2, 3; Florida, 3.

After spending a year in each of the above schools Mabry decided it best to come back to his state institution to get his degree. A good student and especially in geology.

OLIVE ELIZABETH MAULDIN . . . . . Pontotoc, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Both boys and girls like Olive. She is a continual source of humor, laughter and good will. She will be greatly missed next year.

THOMAS JEFFERSON PARKS . . . . . Brooksville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Tulane, 1, 2; Hermaean, 3; Latin Club, 3; Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee, 4; Medical Club, 4.

T. J. made good in the literary societies last year, but his medical studies have prevented his participation this year. Though getting a literary degree this year, he is studying for the medical profession and in it he is sure to succeed.

WILLIAM E. PHILLIPS . . . . . Baldwin, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Class Football, 1, 2; Pre-Med Club, 1; Teachers' Club, 2; Masonic Club, 3, 4; Phi Sigma, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club, 1, 2.

There is not a better man on the campus than Bill Phillips. He isn't so noisy, but he is never left out in a rush and he is generally known as a jolly good fellow and a true friend.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

MEYER ALGERNON PIGFORD . . . . . Lumberton, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE

Cheer Leader, 1, 2, 3; Hermaeon, 1, 2, 3, 4; Reporter; Parliamentarian; Query Committee; Mississippian Staff, 2, 3; Business Manager, 4; Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4; Chairman Mid-Term Dance Committee, 3.

Fatty is one of the most popular and best all-round fellows we have on the campus. He has proven his loyalty to this institution in many ways. We shall never forget his famous slogan in cheering his team to victory: "Fellows, they're your men as well as mine. TALK IT UP." We are for you, and you are sure to make a great success in the cruel world.

MONTIE MAI POWELL . . . . . Water Valley, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Greek Club, 2, 3; Education Club, 2, 3, 4.

There are those who pass our way having an influence that is helpful and good to remember. Such a one was Montie, always ready to lift those who passed her with a smile.

COLLEY C. RATCLIFF . . . . . Summit, Mississippi

Masonic Club; M Club; Scrub Football, '19; Varsity, '20; Teachers' Club.

Colley wears an M of former years when he did his bit to help Ole Miss. He returned this year after several years' absence, and assumed at once his old place in the hearts of his friends. He will be missed when the next year rolls around.

LEON DEKALB RATCLIFF . . . . . Summit, Mississippi

Y. M. C. A. Council, '21; Historian Sophomore Class, '21; President Senior Class, '24; Phi Sigma.

The president of the Senior Class is no less a dignitary than this gentleman himself. His ability and popularity need no further proof than that, for he is one of our best.

HUGH EDWIN RAY, JR. . . . . Corinth, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

DeMolay Club, 2, 3, 4; Greek Club, 4.

A fine fellow from Corinth. He has a wonderful way with the ladies, but really is a bit bashful about working it. A very popular boy and one who is wide'y known and liked.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

MARY IRENE RUSSELL . . . . . University, Mississippi

Woman's College; Latin Club; Greek Club; Education Club.

Although Irene belonged to some other college before she came to us, we feel as if she has always been here. She is a very interesting person to be with and we hope that she will make as good a record in life as she has at the university.

AUSTIN RETHIE SARTAIN . . . . . Dennis, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Phi Sigma; Greek Club; Education Club; Track Squad, 4; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee.

Frank, forward and open-minded is Austin. A faithful student and a good college sport, ever ready for fun and frolic, and also capable of holding many honors, responsibilities where only ability will serve.

WILLIAM WAYNE SHORT . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Mississippi College, '20; Glee Club, 3; Latin Club; Phi Sigma; French Club; Orchestra, 4.

Wayne is one of the jolliest fellows we have, and with his personality and scientific ability, a success is assured. He goes out this year with '24's best wishes.

SICILY SIMMONS . . . . . Pontotoc, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

B.A. Blue Mountain College; Marlonettes; French Club; Education Club; Girls' Basketball Team, 4.

We are sorry that Sicily did not come to Ole Miss sooner. She is always bubbling with fun and pep. Her smile would capture most any "ed" on the campus.

eva EUGENIA STRAHAN . . . . . Poplarville, Mississippi

Latin Club, 1; Education Club, 3; Legislative Council, 3; Medical Club, 4.

Eva is a fine girl. She is honest and sincere in all she undertakes. She possesses all those qualities of womanhood which will make her successful in the professional world.

Seniors—College of Liberal Arts

CLAYWELL GILLIAND TURLEY . . . . . Coldwater, Mississippi

Scrub Baseball, 1; Vice-President Sophomore Class, 2.

Men like Deacon Turley are few and far between. He is, upon occasions, the most comical or the wittiest or again the most intellectual man in the student body. His place will be hard to fill when he is gone.

DELMARTYN VARDAMAN . . . . . Greenwood, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Basketball Captain, 3, 4; Manager, 2; Vice-President Latin Club, 3; Legislative Council, 3; Executive Council, 4; Greek Club, 1; Latin Club, 1, 2, 3.

When one speaks of a real college girl, Del. comes to mind. She excels in her studies and is a star on our basketball team. Delmartyn is always ready to do anything for the good of the school.

CENA WALKER . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

Education Club; Student Assistant English, 3.

Beneath Cena's reserve there is a wealth of fun and frolic. She is a good student—just ask her about her grades.

EMMABEL WOODWARD . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS

Blue Mountain, '17-'21; Education Club, '23.

Emmabel is one of the jolliest girls on the campus. In her work she is rated as one of the best students at the university. It is too bad that she does not reside at the "Coop."

WILLIE PALMER YORK . . . . . University, Mississippi

Phi Sigma.

Commonly known as "Mr. York." He is a good student and a very likeable man. He is one of the few who are really taking advantage of a college education to learn all that it holds. He is to be congratulated on his record.

Seniors—School of Commerce

EDWIN LESLIE FIGG . . . . . Courtland, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Mississippi College; Phi Sigma; Commerce Club; Secretary B. S. C. Class.

One of the mainstays of the School of Commerce and one of the leading students therein. Figg is one of the best known men in his class and is well liked by all who know him.

CHARLES PAUL JONES . . . . . Aberdeen, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Spanish Club, 1, 2; Orchestra, 2.

A dead shot at the line with a nickel and not a bad eye at other things. Jones has made himself well known wherever men congregate. He has made a good student and will no doubt succeed at his profession of business.

R. D. JONES . . . . . Aberdeen, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Spanish Club, 1, 2, 3; Commerce Club; Education Club.

Davie rivals his brother at lagging nickels, and when he gets out of school, indications are that he will reap there more than he lags here. He really deserves a degree as an al-'round good fellow.

CLARENCE L. PROVOST . . . . . Poplarville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Masonic Club, 2, 3, 4; Phi Sigma, 2, 3, 4; Commercial Club, 3, 4; Education Club, 4; Glee Club, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee.

Clarence has been a faithful student in the School of Business and Commerce, but his most signal success has been in the formation of friendships. He is a singer of note and we hope to hear him on the victrola records soon.

FRANKLIN C. SPALDING, JR., A Φ E . . . . . West Point, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Hermeneut; Freshman Medal, 1; Second Anniversary Speaker, 2; Assistant Librarian, 2, 3; Vice-President Junior Class, 3; Cotillion Club; Commercial Club; President, 3; Reporter, 4; President B. S. C. Class, 4; A. S. B. Executive Council, 4; Alpha Phi Epsilon; Secretary, 4; Mississippian Board of Control, 4; Student Assistant in Economics, 4.

"Prep." throughout his whole college career, has shown an unusual adaptability for work in studies, in student activities and in club work. Indeed, he seems now to be entering upon a life as a coop-hound. His Senior year is rather late to start such a career, but we have no doubt that he will make up for lost time, for he has no classes in the afternoon or on Saturday.

Seniors—School of Commerce

WILLIAM ROBERT TRIM . . . . . Hermanville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Education Club; Commercial Club; Masonic Club.

Trim is our best bet for a future operator of an American Monte Carlo. Though a little fellow, he is always prominent in whatever crowd he may be in. And he is universally liked.

MYRON TURFITT . . . . . Centerville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF SCIENCE IN COMMERCE

Phi Sigma, 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary, 2; C. B. A. Club, 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer, 3; President, 4; Vice-President Senior B. S. C. Class, 4; Y. M. C. A. Assistant in B. S. C. Department.

Myron has had a hard time with English, though at business he is a bird. He is one of the instructors in the Commercial School and has made good at it. His associates acclaim him a good friend and a pleasant companion.

School of Engineering

IRVIN M. BOONE . . . . . Richton, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Ole Miss Engineers, 1, 2, 3, 4; Track Team, 3, 4; Historian Senior Engineering Class; Class Football, 2.

Ike Boone first leaped to prominence when he astonished the track squad last year with his stellar performances. Always a popular man, and an idol of the engineers, it will be with real regret that we see his shining face leave the campus for good.

JOHN BARRY BROWN . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Member Ole Miss Engineers and A. S. C. E.; Vice-President Ole Miss Engineers, 3; Vice-President Junior Class, 3.

Barry is one of the hardest working members of the School of Engineering, and one of the best of them. He hails from the home town of Oxford, where all great men come from. Barry is sure of success as an engineer.

DAVID W. COLBERT, Σ X . . . . . Magnolia, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Secretary-Treasurer Senior Class, 4; Ole Miss Engineers, 1, 2, 4; Student Member of A. S. C. E.

Buddy is a peach of a fellow in every way. He lent a friend his last two bits one time. What more evidence could be desired? He attended Alabama last year, but returned to become an engineer here. Though his bridges may fall down, his friends never will.

Seniors—School of Engineering

FRANCIS EVERETT HALL . . . . . Greenville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Ole Miss Engineers, 1, 2, 3, 4; Treasurer, '23; Track Squad, 1, 2, 3; Manager, 3; Episcopal Club, 2, 3; President, 3; Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4; DeMolay Club, 3; Ole Miss Art Editor, 4; Student Assistant in Chemistry, 2.

If looks were all, he wouldn't get far, but his attractive old self shines right on through that face of his, and one cannot help being proud of his friendship. His dancing feet would bring in more revenue than his engineering if he should choose to go on the stage.

HARRELL B. HERRING . . . . . Madison, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Ole Miss Engineers, 1, 2, 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer, 2; Vice-President, 4.

H. B. is one year behind his class since he stayed out for a year of practical experience, but he returned this year with his studiousness unchanged, and his good nature actually improved. His success is already assured, but we hate to lose him from the school.

JAMES B. LAWSON . . . . . Houston, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Ole Miss Engineers, 2, 3, 4; President, 4; Secretary-Treasurer, 3; Golf Club; Cotillion Club.

Jimmie came here from A. & M. three years ago and since then has been one of the leading lights of the engineering school. His success is attested by the fact that he was chosen this year as president of his class.

RICHARD MYRL SMITH . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Ole Miss Engineers, 1, 2, 3, 4; Historian Junior Class; Class Football, 3.

Myrl Smith has a future before him, but no one can guess its nature. A citizen of Oxford he has, therefore, been at considerable disadvantage, though he has succeeded to such an extent as to be one of the most promising of his class.

KIRBY LAND SWINNEY, II KA . . . . . Jackson, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Ole Miss Engineering Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; President Engineering Club, 4; President Junior Engineering Club, '23; American Legion; Overseas Club; Vice-President Sophomore Engineering Class, 2; Student Executive Council.

Several years ago Kirby astonished the campus by accomplishing a great feat. He returned one time with a wife and received congratulations with a smile of contentment. We are mighty used to seeing him around here and he will surely be missed.

Seniors—School of Engineering

HUGH WORLEY, JR. . . . . Oxford, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ENGINEERING

Secretary Ole Miss Engineers, 3; Secretary-Treasurer Junior Class, 3; Secretary-Treasurer Senior Class, 4.

Hugh is also a resident of Oxford and he has always upheld nobly the high standards of his position. The profession will surely be the better for his entrance, and from that time on there will be no more impossibilities.

School of Medicine

TEMPLE AINSWORTH . . . . . Bay Springs, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 2, 3, 4; Cotillion Club, 3, 4.

Another hard working medical student who doesn't let this dry subject interfere with his duties to his fellow-students. He is not only bright and industrious, but a peach of an associate as well. If he lives and doesn't fall in love his success is certain.

JAMES WESLEY BARKLEY . . . . . Cotton Plant, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A., 3, 4.

The brother of the other one and equally as popular, though we can predict no such astounding discoveries for him. He is a very diligent student and will no doubt make a success of his profession.

THOMAS JEFFERSON BARKLEY . . . . . Cotton Plant, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; President Junior Medical Class, 3; Secretary-Treasurer Pre-Med Class, 2; Student Assistant in Biology, 3; Y. M. C. A., 2, 3, 4.

Behold the incarnation of Chaucer—minus the poetry. A more popular and good-natured man was never beheld. An indispensable supporter of the School of Medicine, a basketball man of renown and one of the most successful students we have known. He will be missed when he has gone away.

ROBERT B. CUNNINGHAM . . . . . Booneville, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Vice-President Senior Medical Class, 4; Medical Club, 3, 4; Masonic Club, 3, 4; American Legion, 3, 4.

Like the Cunningham of anatomy fame, "R. B." knows his stuff. While as yet he has not tried to improve upon the English Cunningham, we would not be surprised if he did essay the task.

Seniors—School of Medicine

JOHN ALBERT CRAWFORD . . . . . Philadelphia, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club; American Legion.

A quiet, good-natured man, and a good track man. He has a personality which makes him universally liked and he will leave many good friends behind him. We can only wish the best of the world's luck for him with the certainty that success is his.

J. BENTON DICKERSON . . . . . McComb, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; DeMolay Club, 2, 3; Historian Junior Medical Club, 2; Hermaean; Cotillion Club, 4.

McComb has sent many and various individuals to the university, but none better than Dick. He has become a familiar figure around the campus and he will most assuredly be missed by those who return next year.

MARK STOVALL DOUGHERTY, JR., AKE . . . . . Coldwater, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Scribblers, 1, 2, 3, 4; Tennis Team, 2; President Glee Club, 3; Dance Committee, 3; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3; Executive Student Body Council, 3; Ole Miss Annual Board, 4.

The school will be forever indebted to Mark as one of the most patriotic men who ever attended the university. His list of honors will indicate his versatility. 'Tis a pity that a man of such broadness should confine himself to one narrow profession, though he is sure to succeed in that.

FRANCIS CHAPPELLE GOODWIN, ΣΑΕ . . . . . La Para, Texas
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Secretary-Treasurer Medical Club, 3; Texas University, 2.

Frank is known among the students as one of the jolliest and finest men the university ever welcomed. He is a true, sincere pal, a good student and has caused many a feminine heart to flutter. And if Frank should fail to dim the lights of the Mayo brothers, he will disappoint his classmates of '24.

TASWELL PAUL HANEY . . . . . Burnsville, Mississippi
B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Masonic Club, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A., 3, 4.

Haney's love for the ladies was only excelled by his love for the medical profession. His studies always came first, but he did not neglect campus life.

Seniors—School of Medicine

DEWITT HAMRICK . . . . . Philadelphia, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; President Medical Class, 4; A. S. B.; Executive Council; Student Assistant in Bacteriology and Pathology, 4.

As bacteriology assistant Hamrick made good. He seems to live for his chosen profession alone. His perseverance cannot but bring him fame in the medical profession.

WILLIAM LAUCH HUGHES . . . . . Raleigh, Mississippi

M.D.

B.S., A. & M., '22; Secretary-Treasurer Medical Class, 4; Medical Club, 3, 4; Cotillion Club, 3, 4.

It is men like Lauch that causes us to stop and wonder whether our opinions concerning the products of A. & M. are correct after all. The loss of A. & M. is our gain. He is one of the most likeable men on the campus.

MARION MAITLAND HUFFMAN . . . . . Thorn, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Vice-President Medical Club, 4; Student Assistant in Biology, 2; Student Assistant in Physiology, 4; Board of Control, 4; Hermaean, 1, 2, 3, 4; Masonic Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A., 2, 3, 4; President Pre-Med Club 2; French Club, 2, 3.

One of the best all-around men on the campus. He is universally liked, though his studies do not keep him very much at home. He is taking his work seriously and will surely make an ideal surgeon.

JOHNNIE RUFUS JOHNSON . . . . . Cohay, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Masonic Club, 3, 4.

J. Rufus is well liked by everyone. His humor is keen, his sociability is well marked, yet in the classroom his grades are of the best. Rufus is one whose memory his classmates will long cherish.

JOHN RALPH MARKETTE, JR. . . . . Water Valley, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Phi Sigma, 3, 4; Masonic Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Orchestra, 1, 2, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A., 2, 3, 4; Medical Club, 3, 4.

"Skinny" was one to take part in every part of campus activity. If his popularity at Ricks and Ward Halls was great it was excelled by the applause when he took part in the Glee Club performances. "Skinny" Markette is a man that will "GET THERE."

Seniors—School of Medicine

VIRGINIA BORUM POPE, X Ω . . . . . Natchez, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Medical Club, 3, 4; Secretary Junior Medical Class, 3; Historian Senior Medical Class, 4; Vice-President Co-ed Student Government, 3; President, 4; Member A. S. B. Executive Council, 4.

All the co-eds are proud to claim Virginia as their student government president. Her justice, sympathy and mentality inspire the love and admiration of every student.

JOHN W. SHACKELFORD, JR. . . . . Carrollton, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Pre-Med Club; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee; Medical Club; Phi Sigma; Assistant in Chemistry, 3.

All who knew him acclaimed him without peer. We have no fears but that "Doctor" Shackelford will inspire the confidence of whatever community he may select to practice in.

PRENTISS EDWARD SMITH, II KA . . . . . New Augusta, Mississippi

M.D.

Millsaps, 1; Greek Club; French Club; Masonic Club; Y. M. C. A.; Phi Sigma; Taylor Medal in Chemistry, 3; Cotillion Club.

Everybody both knew and liked P. E. Sociable, studious, he was the kind of man the students liked to elect to office because they knew the work would be done.

CARLISS MALONE STROUD . . . . . Mount Olive, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

Phi Sigma, 1; Anniversarian, 1; Censor, 1; French Club; Pre-Med Club; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee; DeMolay Club; President, 4; Reporter Medical Club, 4.

As a Freshman he was the freshest of them all. When in love he fell deeper than anyone else. In the classroom he stood at the top. Whatever he did, Malone did with all that was in him and that was a good deal.

BLANCHARD HICKMAN TEXADA, Σ A E . . . . . Boyce, Louisiana

B.S., M.D.

Tulane, 1, 2; Medical Club.

Coming from Tulane to study medicine, he has been here only two years, and studies have kept him from making himself too prominent in that time, but he is highly esteemed by his associates as a student and as a good fellow.

Seniors—School of Medicine

GIDEON DOUGLAS WILLIAMS . . . . . Jackson, Mississippi

B.S., M.D.

B.S. Miss. A. & M., '21; Medical Club; Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee.

"Doug" is a product of the Capital City, and is one of those easy-going fellows who never seem to worry and who are forever radiating good cheer and fellowship. His future is very promising, and we are sure that he will add greater distinction to a name already illustrious.

TALMAGE LYLES WILSON . . . . . Water Valley, Mississippi

M.D.

Y. M. C. A.; Masonic Club; American Legion; French Club; Medical Club.

"Red" is a very likeable chap. The fact is generally conceded. For, in truth, his red hair and wry smile are all the requisites that could be desired. A hard student, popular in his classes and sure of success as a real old country physician.

THOMAS EPPS WILSON, JR. . . . . Clinton, Mississippi

M.D.

B.A. Mississippi College, '22; Medical Club; Vice-President Junior Medical Class, '23.

"Teboy" has been a steady and dependable worker, but not too serious to relish a little nonsense now and then. On one like "Teboy," who is diligent in his work and serious in his attempts, Dame Fortune confers that lasting degree—success.

School of Law

JOHN A. BELL . . . . . Ethel, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Phi Sigma; A. E. F. Club; American Legion; Commander; Secretary A. E. F. Club; Blackstone Club; Vice-President Cotillion Club; Baseball Manager, 4.

"Dick" Bell was a campus fixture. Without him life would have been dull. He went into things with his whole soul and that was large. Success awaits his asking.

JESSE M. BYRD . . . . . University, Mississippi

Blackstone Club.

Jesse is a man whose morals are beyond reproach—reserved, studious, cultured—a gentleman in every sense of the word. He is a quiet sort of a fellow, a willing worker and a devoted adherent to his standards.

Seniors—School of Law

LAWRENCE C. CORBAN,  $\Pi K A, \Sigma Y, A \Phi E . . . . .$  Fayette, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF ARTS, BACHELOR OF LAWS

Millsaps College, 1, 2; Freshman Declamation Medal; President Blackstone Club, 3; President Phi Sigma, 3; Editor Mississippi Law Review, 4; President Y. M. C. A., 4; Mississippian Staff, 3, 4; Intercollegiate Debater, 3; Masonic Club; Blue Ridge Delegate, 3; President State Student Council; Y. M. C. A., 4; Law Librarian, 4.

It is unnecessary to write the eulogies of Lawrence. The above facts speak for themselves. He is a man of beautiful character, uplifting influence and a most engaging personality. His place will be hard to fill when he is gone.

WILLIAM HAROLD COX,  $\Phi \Delta \Theta . . . . .$  Indianola, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF SCIENCE, BACHELOR OF LAWS

Cotillion Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Blackstone Club, 2, 3, 4; "Ole Miss" Board of Control, 4; Masonic Club; Chairman Mis-Term Dance Committee, 4; Secretary and Treasurer Senior Law Class, 4; President Boxing Club, 3, 4.

Harold is one of the quiet type and always makes friends wherever he goes. It might be well to mention in passing that he is not adverse to the company of the weaker sex. Harold's place in college life will be hard to fill, as he is sincere in his work, true to his friends and loyal to his school.

LOUIS IRVING DAILEY,  $A \Phi E . . . . .$  Torrance, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF LAWS

B. B. B. Club, '18; Editorial Staff "Mississippian," '20, '21; Hermaean, '18; Y. M. C. A. Council, '20; Blackstone Club; Treasurer Cotillion Club, '22; Editorial Staff Mississippi Law Review, '24; Secretary-Treasurer Boxing Club, '23; Class Football, '22.

He comes to our editorial consideration for the second time in his career of six years. Almost a fixture, the campus won't look right when "Tubby" goes away. But he has his profession to consider and it will assuredly be the gainer.

CARL FRANCIS DRAKE . . . . . West, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF LAWS
Blackstone Club.

DRAKE should make a good judge if the manner in which he maintains order in the law library is a criterion. He is a good student and an exceptionally hard worker, and the legal profession should be proud to welcome him.

CHARLES CARROLTON EVANS . . . . . Lawrence, Mississippi
BACHELOR OF LAWS
Blackstone Club, 1, 2, 3, 4; Attorney-General, 3.

As for Charles an accurate description may be given in these few words: "He is a good fellow and a true friend." When he takes up the practice of law we can depend upon him to make good.

Seniors—School of Law

ROBERT JOSEPH FARLEY, A Φ E, Σ Y . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

B.A., '19; President Hermacan, '18; President Scribblers, '19; President Alpha Phi Epsilon, 2; Vice-President Associated Student Body, '18; President Associated Student Body, '23; Editor "Ole Miss," '19; Assistant Editor "Law Review," 3; University Club; Red and Blue Club; Scrub Football, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet and Council; Blackstone Club.

The "Lord Mayor of Oxford" will never be forgotten. His genial personality endeared him to both the men and co-eds alike. While he was never known to seek campus position, yet offices just seemed to heap themselves upon him.

JAMES IRA FORD . . . . . Pascagoula, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Spring Hill College, 1, 2, 3; Blackstone.

Ira comes fresh from where the cooling breezes do faintly blow and he shows it. Always in a good humor and laughing over something, he is a good antedote to the day's work. Some day he will come back to us a famous statesman.

LEVI GRANTHAM . . . . . Hattiesburg, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Blackstone Club, 2, 3, 4; American Legion.

There are different grades of success. Some men make a living and nothing more. Others live lives worthy the respect of their fellow men by not only making an honest living, but also giving out something to mankind. In the second class we place Levi.

GEORGE BRYAN HERRING, A Φ E . . . . . Madison, Mississippi

President Student Body; President Blackstone Club.

As president of the student body, "G. B." has unwaveringly worked for the best interest of Ole Miss., without regard to criticism from either the faculty or student-body. Few men have exercised as wide an influence upon the opinions and actions of Ole Miss men and none have used their influence more unselfishly or wisely.

JOHN COOPER HATHORN . . . . . University, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

B.S., '21; Student Assistant in History, 2, 3; Taylor Medal in Chemistry; Odom Prize; Varsity Baseball, 1, 2, 3, 4.

Whether it was catching a pop fly or a Taylor medal, "Happy" got that which he went after. If it was gettable he counted it as his. We have the utmost confidence that he will win his cases with the same ease.

Seniors—School of Law

LOUIS M. JIGGITS, A Φ E, Σ Y . . . . . Canton, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Rhodes Scholar, '19; B.A. in Jurisprudence, Oxford, England; Varsity Football; Varsity Baseball; Varsity Track; Orchestra; M. Club; Band; American Legion; President Freshman Class; Marionettes; Red and Blue Club; Third Dance Committee, '24.

Returning to us after an absence of three years in Oxford, England, where his name became known to periodicals, both at home and abroad, he has achieved a record which would make the most vain of us jealous. He has indeed come up to our expectations, and his last year in the university has been marked by great influence and popularity.

EARLE D. JONES . . . . . Jackson, Mississippi

Masonic Club; A. E. F. Club; Blackstone Club.

Always with a good word for everybody, Earle has made himself not only known, but liked by all his classmates. If he makes as good a lawyer as he has a good all-round fellow, the road to success is waiting for him.

JOHN T. MONTGOMERY . . . . . Hattiesburg, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Varsity Football, 1, 2, 3, 4; Varsity Baseball, 1, 2, 3, 4; Varsity Basketball, 1, 2, 3, 4; Captain Football, 4; Captain Basketball, 4; Captain Baseball, 3; President Junior Law Class, 3; Vice-President Student Body, 4; Gordon Hall Board of Control, 2, 4; Blackstone Club.

A review of Ole Miss athletics for the last four years is but a resume of the punch, spirit, activity and leadership of Johnnie. He is natural and unassuming as he can well be. He never worries, always smiles, and is ever willing to be of service to somebody.

SAMUEL R. NETTLES, A Φ E . . . . . Shubuta, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Phi Sigma Secretary, 3; President, 4; Orator, 4; Blackstone Club; Vice-President, 2; Masonic Club; A. E. F. Club; Vice-President, 4; American Legion Treasurer, 2; Vice-Commander, 3; Intercollegiate Debate, 3; M. I. O. A. Representative, 3.

If a Senior is to be judged by his fluent line of talk, we are surprised that the "sheik" of Shubuta was not handed his sheepskin on entrance at Ole Miss. He is one whose pace will not be soon overtaken as he begins his practice before the bar.

LEVI McCULLOUGH PETTIS, X B Σ, K Σ . . . . . Oxford, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

American Legion Adjutant, 1; Marionettes; Blackstone Club Secretary, 2; Clerk of Circuit Court, University County; Business Manager "Law Review," 3; President Senior Law Class, 4.

With the idea of becoming a disciple of Blackstone, Levi came and, with that idea materialized by a fine record, he will leave Ole Miss. His aim is not to move the world, but simply to gather the fruits of his efforts as they mature.

Seniors—School of Law

JOHN W. SAVAGE, A Φ E . . . . . Iuka, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF ARTS. BACHELOR OF LAWS

Post Commander American Legion, 2; President Blackstone Club, 3; Vice-President Phi Sigma, 3; President Masonic Club, 3; Censor Phi Sigma, 2; Y. M. C. A. Cabinet, 3, 4; Secretary Junior Law Class, 3; Vice-President, 2.

Although a lawyer by choice, John is a genius when it comes to putting any job "over" and performing the duties of a business man. We don't know just yet where he intends to hang the proverbial "shingle," but the bar has gained a good member, and wherever he goes he is sure to make good.

WALTER A. SCOTT, JR., A Θ X . . . . . Jackson, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Phi Sigma; Critic, 3; Blackstone Club; Intercollegiate Debate, 2; Debaters Council, 2; President Phi Sigma, 3.

Whatever pathway Walter may choose, if history repeats itself, will unquestionably lead to success, for his past has been a consummation of loyalty, industry, ability and tact. We predict a brilliant success for him before the bar.

JOHN ASKEW STOVALL . . . . . Greenville, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

President Freshman Class, 1; Varsity Football, 3, 4; Vice-President Cotillion Club, 4.

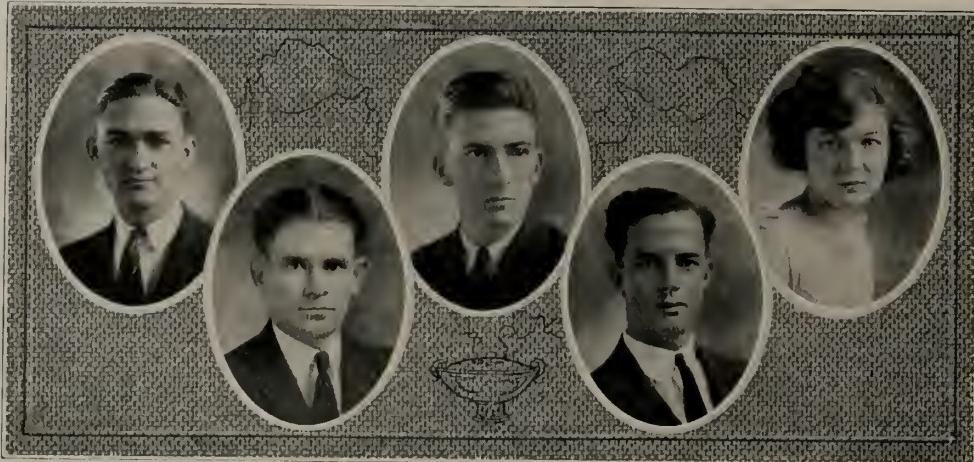

John A. is the busiest little man on the campus, taking a very active interest in all branches of college activities. On the football team he was known as the little guard with the fighting spirit and the persistent determination to give his best.

DELBERT R. STUMP, A X A . . . . . Lake, Mississippi

BACHELOR OF LAWS

Butler College, '14-'17; Phi Sigma; Blackstone Club; Masonic Club; A. E. F. Club; "Law Review" Staff, '22; Business Manager "Law Review," '23; President A. E. F. Club, '23; Ole Miss Board of Control, '24; Vice-President Senior Law Class, '24.

"Doc" has the reputation of being the best lawyer on the campus, and in order to satisfy his own curiosity as to how much law he knew, he took the bar examination last summer and passed it. Because of his friendly disposition, we fear a good man will be ruined by his entry into politics.

Seniors—School of Pharmacy

CHARLES BONNER ARMISTEAD . . . . . Moss Point, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Association, 3, 4; Y. M. C. A., 2, 3, 4; Miss. A. & M., 1.

Charlie, the smiling youth from the gulf coast, came to us last year after spending a year at A. & M. With his good nature, friendly disposition and likeable personality, he is one of the best fellows we have on the campus.

J. V. BILBO . . . . . Tylertown, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

"Runt," the nephew of our distinguished ex-governor, bids fair to become as successful a pharmacist as his uncle is a statesman and editor. He received a bad start by entering Mississippi College, but soon realized his mistake and came to the University.

ROLAND Q. BRELAND, JR. . . . . Moss Point, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Association; Scrub Basketball, 1, 2; Varsity Basketball, 3, 4;
"M" Club, 4; Football Manager, 4.

Due to Breland's ability to manage pros as well as the Ole Miss eleven, he is graduating this year, having made a fine record in the School of Pharmacy. He entered the University in '21 and has been in evidence ever since, especially on the varsity quintet.

WILLIAM F. CLAYTON . . . . . Wiggins, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Association, 3, 4; Student Assistant in Pharmacy, 4.

Clayton is a very valuable man to the School of Pharmacy. He is always the same anywhere you meet him, and he can be depended on to help in any good cause.

KATHLEEN CORBETT . . . . . Minot, North Dakota

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Kathleen is one of the dearest, sweetest girls the university ever welcomed. Her sweet personality and her winning smile has won her quite a number of good friends. We send her out with 1921's best wishes.

Seniors—School of Pharmacy

E. DILLARD COX . . . . . Booneville, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association; Science Club; Y. M. C. A.; Freshman Baseball Team, 3.
Ed started swatting the ball in Booneville and now promises to be a valuable addition to our baseball squad. A good man is hard to down, so he is to come up for a "dip" in June.

HOMAN MARVIN DANIEL . . . . . Corinth, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Association; Historian, 4; Secretary-Treasurer Senior Pharmacy
Class, 4; DeMolay Club; Phi Sigma; Science Club.
One of the nicest men we ever knew and one of the most popular. He will make a great success of his profession and will probably make a million out of a patent medicine, even as E. W. Grove did.

MRS. H. M. EASTERLING . . . . . Richton, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association,

South Mississippi is fortunate to have the privilege to claim Mrs. Easterling. She is one of the leaders in the School of Pharmacy, and her work here is only the beginning of a great success.

SHELDON J. GIVENS . . . . . Monticello, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association; Freshman Basketball Team, 3; Cotillion Club.

Sheep is one of the Old Royal Order of the Water Slingers of Center, and will go down in history as one of the bravest of the brave. He is one of the popular men of the profession and will some day make the proud proprietor of a small town drug store, as his ability is unlimited in all fields.

ROSCOE HARBOER . . . . . DeKalb, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association Secretary-Treasurer, 4.

With long hair waving in the wind, he is customarily seen shouting at the top of his lungs. If he passes, however, he will probably go the way of all pharmachutes, but he might not pass. In which case we will be glad to have him with us another year.

Seniors—School of Pharmacy

JOE WILLIE HERRING . . . . . Winona, Mississippi

Ph.G., B.S.

Pharmaceutical Association; Latin Club; Hermacan; Y. M. C. A.; Class Football, 2.
A man of sterling character and admirable personality. One whom we all respect and are glad to call a friend, for there is no truer friend than he. Joe is mighty well known on the campus, and we will be sorry to see him go. With his industry and stickability, he is sure of success in any field.

CLARENCE O. HINTON . . . . . Wiggins, Mississippi

Ph.G., B.S.

Pharmaceutical Association.

It is very seldom there comes to Ole Miss a fellow as unassuming, studious and quiet as Clarence. Behind this meditative mind many of his classmates have found a real friend. With these fine qualities he is sure to make good wherever he decides to settle.

GEORGE ERNEST HOLDER . . . . . Hattiesburg, Mississippi

Pre-Med Club, 2; Basketball, 3; Pharmaceutical Association.

The marvel of the age--how does he pass without ever studying? However, his books would take too much of his valuable time away from us, and so we are very well pleased as things are. We almost hope he doesn't pass so he will stay another year.

JAMES CHARLES LOCKE . . . . . Carriere, Mississippi

Lew Wallace Prize, 3; Pharmaceutical Association.

This noble descendant of the ancient alchemists is one of the quieter members of the  $\text{H}_2\text{S}$  inhalers. He served Uncle Sam on the seas during the war, but has now decided to alleviate pain instead of administering punishment.

FERNANDO WOODIE LODEN . . . . . Booneville, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association.

Along with good work in the classroom Loden makes good in basketball and dashes off 100 yards with amazing rapidity. At any rate, his record shows that he has "put out" and we expect him to have a great success on the "outside."

Seniors—School of Pharmacy

FRANK FOSTER MANGUM . . . . . Magee, Mississippi

Ole Miss Pharmaceutical Association; Mississippi State Pharmaceutical Association.
Frank lives thirteen "stills" from Magee and that is one block off Main street. He is a good pharmacist and a practical man, but he has apparently never become educated, for he still longs to return to the wilds of Sullivan Hollow.

JOHN B. McELROY . . . . . Baldwin, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Ole Miss Pharmaceutical Association; Science Club, 2; DeMolay Club, 2; President DeMolay Club, 3; B. B. B. Club.

Another from the great metropolis of Baldwin. We hope it sends more like him, for his type is the one we like best. Quiet and unassuming, but a forceful character nevertheless.

ROGER PARKES . . . . . Louisville, Mississippi

Vice-President Pharmaceutical Association, 3; Cotillion Club, 2, 3, 4.

Ladies and Gentlemen (ladies especially): We present to you the only untamed and incorrigible "lady-killer" of the Pharmacy Class of '24. Aside from being a good pharmacist, his highest ambition is to make some little girl 'way down in Winston a good husband.

LAWRENCE A. PIGOTT . . . . . Tylertown, Mississippi

Vice-President Pharmacy Class, 4.

Lawrence is one of the finest boys we have on the campus. Quiet, yet a very influential man. He leaves us this year with the best wishes of the future from the Class of '24.

LOUIS I. PIGOTT . . . . . Tylertown, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Louis is rather a modest, unassuming young gentleman and his two years here were spent in earnest labor. He is kind and energetic and can always be depended on.

Seniors—School of Pharmacy

JOHN WOODSON RAPE . . . . . Moss Point, Mississippi

Scrub Basketball, 1, 2, 3; Y. M. C. A.; Pharmaceutical Association.

South Mississippi has sent us another son of whom she may feel proud. Little Woodson hails from Moss Point, the thriving metropolis of Jackson county. Woodson has been a fighting scrub on the basketball squad for several years. He has exhibited qualities of determination and fight which are sure to be recognized in later life.

H. K. ROUSE, JR. . . . . Poplarville, Mississippi
GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

A smooth-faced boy in appearance, but a man in manner. He is a fine fellow and is very popular with his classmates. As a pharmacist he is a good soda-jerker and will no doubt make a great success at it.

BENJAMIN CHARLES SMITH . . . . . Booneville, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association, 3; President, 4; Science Club; Y. M. C. A.; DeMolay Club, 2, 3.

Chosen by his classmates as most fitted to represent them as president of the association, his campus standing is apparent. Ben is a quiet boy who attends to his own business and gets results. He has many friends on the campus.

GIBSON SPIVEY SMITH . . . . . Kilmichael, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association, 3, 4; State Pharmaceutical Association, 4; Hermaean; Science Club; Boxing Club; Scrub Football.

Kilmichael has been and is represented by various and sundry Flowers and Smiths, all of which are very high in our respect. Gibson is a mighty popular boy and endeared himself to the members of Center Gordon by his achievements on the athletic field in the Inter-Mural series.

CHARLES FRANKLIN SMITH . . . . . Vaiden, Mississippi
GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Association, 3, 4; Mississippi State Pharmaceutical Association; Y. M. C. A.

Full of grit, humor and confidence—that's Smith—and one of the best all-around fellows we have on the campus. If you are fortunate enough to win his friendship there is nothing too small or too great for him to do for you.

Seniors—School of Pharmacy

LESLIE CAMPBELL TUCKER . . . . . Canton, Mississippi

Cotillion Club; Pharmaceutical Association.

"Les" is a man of great attainments, both in his profession and without. He is, however, entirely too good-looking for a pharmachute, though he will no doubt make his store a rendezvous for Ladies' Aid Societies, and, therefore, a great success. We wish him the best of luck in the world.

LIMUEL DERWOOD WALKER . . . . . Magee, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Pharmaceutical Association, 3, 4; Cotillion Club.

Some there are who fall heir to a campus course of great intensity. This is one. But he is, however, a good student, and with such a pleasing personality he is sure to own a prosperous drug store some day—but when?

HOWARD BOWEN WALLACE . . . . . Laurel, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Phi Sigma Reporter, 3; Pharmaceutical Association, 2, 3; DeMolay Club, 2, 3;
Y. M. C. A. Promotion Committee; Cotillion Club.

It's too bad that a fine fellow like Howard should devote his talents to pharmacy. We surely think that his mind was made for higher things. Wherever he settles down he's sure to take a more active part in any community than the mere role of a "pharmachute."

DREW WILSON . . . . . Vaiden, Mississippi

Pharmaceutical Association.

Drew is a quiet, unassuming, dependable fellow who can be counted on making his mark after he leaves Ole Miss. Throughout his student life here he has shown himself to be an industrious worker, a loyal friend, a devoted student and, above all, a gentleman of the highest type.

SIMON PETER WILSON, ΣΑΕ . . . . . Vaughn, Mississippi

GRADUATE IN PHARMACY

Baseball, '19, '20, '23, '24; Captain, 4; President Junior Pharmacy Class, 3;
Vice-President Junior Class, '20; A. S. B. Council, 3; Manager Football, '20; Scrub
Football, 2; Business Manager "Ole Miss," 4; "M" Club; Secretary-Treasurer, 3; Chairman "M" Club Dance Committee, 3.

When it comes to playing third base, Pete has no superior and in the realm of campus activities he is no slouch. That he is popular is attested by the fact that he is captain of the baseball team and business manager of the annual in the same year. He is one of the best fellows we ever knew and our best wishes for his success go with him.

History of the Class of '24

To inscribe the chronicle through four brief years of one single class is, in itself, a most difficult task. But when that brief span includes the greatest changes that have come to our Alma Mater since her foundation, that task becomes doubly difficult. 'Twould be folly to ascribe the progress of the last few years to the industry and influence of our class alone, yet one cannot help seeing some connection in the two. A long continued silent working by many forces of many devoted servants of Mississippi have come at last to a focus, and have resulted in the upward climb so apparent during the last few years.

Though we cannot and do not attempt to take credit for the long progress, we do, in some measure, claim credit for their culmination in our regime. To a man, the Class of '24 has stood for the highest of principles and has pushed to the limit every move for the advancement of our Alma Mater. We have seen in our dreams an Ole Miss of a thousand and a half students, well equipped in every way, the seat of learning, and the haunt of the goddess of success. We long for the day when she will take her rightful place among the institutions of the Southland. And it has been for us to see the beginning of what should continue in a long and triumphant march to victory and achievement.

Our Freshman year was marked by a building program of larger proportions than was ever attempted before. The last few years have caused a change from one of the worst equipped athletic departments to one of the best, so that now an Ole Miss team looks the part in the old Red and Blue. Contributions from various sources have resulted in the completion of a concrete stadium seating about a thousand. Our class was instrumental in the institution of a system of Freshman rules to take the place of the old forms of hazing; which had become so notorious. There has grown up in the last few years a better spirit of fellowship and common interest among the students than has existed heretofore. This year the enrollment is larger than ever before in the history of the institution.

Though the years may bring oblivion of many things from our memory, and a dimming of many more, we will never cease to feel a thrill of pride when we see the old Red and Blue, or when we hear the old battle song, "Give 'em hell, Mississippi." As we approach the time of departure, a feeling of sadness creeps in, for with most of us it means the end of four years of devoted service to our Alma Mater and the happiest four years of our lives. But though the fortunes of the world may scatter us to the corners of the earth, comrades are sure to meet again—there again to talk of college days and college pranks of a distant but never-to-be-forgotten past.

Blind Jim, Perpetual Dean of the Freshman Class

It is only fitting that we put the picture of old Blind Jim here in our year book. For over thirty years he has been one of the truest and most optimistic supporters of Ole Miss. His courage is inspiring, and the spirit with which he has cheered the team has many times given heart to the weak and encouraged us to fight to the finish, even though it were a losing one.

Around him cluster a whole volume of tradition and sentiment, which can only be mentioned here, but not expressed. He has become known as Dean of the Freshmen Class, and serves in that capacity year after year. And it is an interesting commentary of the Freshmen that, with a few rare exceptions, they have done all in their power to care for the old blind negro.

The campus will seem a bit deserted and lacking when he has gone, and certainly we will then lose our hold on some of the most sacred of the old traditions of the school.

Coaches

R. L. SULLIVAN, director of athletics, is too well known to all loyal students and alumni to need introduction. For three years Coach Sullivan carried the coaching duties of the university almost alone, and performed his task well. Though handicapped by lack of material, he gave Ole Miss teams that brought her honor in every phase of athletics. During the last two years the council has seen fit to provide Sullivan with assistants, and he now devotes his coaching talent entirely to basketball. Under his direction an Ole Miss quintet defeated the 1922 champions of the South at the tournament in Atlanta in 1923.

* * *

R. A. COWELL came to us from Illinois, where he was a member of the university football aggregation. Cowell is a fighter at heart and instills this quality in his team. None but those who work can hope for a place on the varsity. Under the Cowell regime football at Ole Miss is coming into its own at last.

* * *

Grinnel has sent us one of the most promising coaches we have had in years. K. P. VINSELL has, within six months, made for himself an enviable place in the hearts of Ole Miss students. Though new at the coaching game, he has handled the Freshman teams like a veteran, and has more than proved his worth as varsity track coach. Few athletic mentors possess the personality of Coach Vinsell.

* * *

Though taking a course that would keep any ordinary man busy almost twenty-four hours a day, HATHORN, a member of the famous varsity of 1910, showed his unselfish devotion to Ole Miss by giving his services as assistant varsity football coach. The prowess of our sturdy line owed much to the coaching of Hathorn. His unselfishness has won for Hathorn the gratitude of all Ole Miss supporters.

THE M CLUB

CHEER LEADERS

The Spirit of Ole Miss

In years gone by, when Ole Miss reigned supreme on every athletic field of the South, the university spirit was famous wherever Mississippi was known. But with the unfortunate decline of athletics and with the advent of conflicts that literally tore the student body in twain, the spirit began to wane. Recent years has seen it at its lowest ebb. Ole Miss athletic prowess has been but a shadow of other days, and cohesion among the student body has been more a hope than a fact.

This year has seen a change. Athletics seem at last on the upgrade. The student body has found itself. Petty jealousies have vanished. Ole Miss, before self, has been the dominant note, and the spirit of yore seems on the eve of return.

To those who have led the cheering a great share of the credit belongs. Hewes and Bowls have shown the way. All honor to those who place Ole Miss first in their hearts.

CAPTAIN MONTGOMERY

Whenever men, famous on the Ole Miss gridiron, are mentioned Montgomery's name is always among the first. Football knowledge, speed and judgment made him an ideal captain.

The Season of 1924

With the opening of the season hopes of a championship team ran high. With a number of stars from the Freshmen state champions of the previous year to strengthen the varsity, Ole Miss supporters looked forward to the brightest season since nineteen hundred and ten. Anticipations did not materialize, but, though disappointing, the results were not disastrous.

The disappointment, however, caused by overenthusiasm before the opening of play, was gradually forgotten with the real and continued improvement of the team.

That no great football combination can be built in a short time is a rule of the gridiron, and Ole Miss did not prove itself one of the rare exceptions. But the fighting spirit and the determination shown by the men who fought the 1923 gridiron battles for Ole Miss portends the brightest future.

Coach Cowell's charges were not working at the top of their speed when they defeated Bethel College, 14 to 6, on the campus in the season's opener, nor were they well under way when they met defeat at the hands of the powerful Crimson tide of the University of Alabama by the score of 55 to 0.

However, the Red and Blue line gathered strength after the early season setback and defeated the preachers from S. P. U., 33 to 0. Though the victory was due in greatest part to the improvement of the line, the backfield displayed a driving power it had not yet shown. During the entire game the ball was kept well within enemy territory.

The result of the tussle with the farmers from the Mississippi A. & M. College is a matter of public record. Our narrow, 13 to 7, loss to the Cowpunchers failed to dampen the spirit of the Ole Miss alumni, and we took Jackson, if not the game. There is no excuse to offer for this defeat. The Aggies were the better team as a whole.

The week-end, following the historic battle with A. & M., found the Red and Blue warriors matching football prowess with the St. Louis University eleven, the team that held the Notre Dame Irish to a 13-point score. Ole Miss lost, but only after a display of fight that earned the commendation of all present. The game ended with St. Louis on the large side of a 28 to 3 score.

Birmingham Southern invaded home territory the next week and the Panthers went down, 6 to 0, before a Red and Blue onslaught.

When Cy Parks & Co., sometimes known as the Mississippi College Choctaws, met the Mississippians on the Meridian gridiron, the Ole Miss standard was lowered for one of the few times in the history of the contests between the two institutions. The Choctaws emerged victors by the score of 6 to 0.

The two following weeks brought two more defeats to Ole Miss. In New Orleans our warriors met with a 10 to 0 defeat, and in Knoxville, a week later, the Tennessee eleven humbled us 10 to 0.

Good football marked the close of the season when Camp Benning met defeat at the hands of the Red and Blue. Ole Miss played like a championship combination and left Georgia with a 19 to 7 victory. For the present our warriors have laid aside their armor. In 1924 they will resume the field as they left it—in victory.

Review of Freshman Season

WITH the opening of the football season little was known of the candidates for the Freshman squad. The year previous Coach Sullivan had given Ole Miss a championship first-year team, but there was little hope of repetition. The ability of the new Freshman coach was an unknown quantity, and there were few aspirants with imposing high school records. Pre-season fears vanished with the initial game on the Freshers' schedule. Tupelo came with a strong team and hopes of victory. Tupelo left decisively beaten by a Freshman team that proved its mettle. It would be difficult to single out an individual star. The game was won by the team, which bespeaks genuine football.

Suffering under the handicap of overconfidence, the first-year team tackled the strong M. H. A. eleven from Blue Mountain in the second game of the season. Overconfidence and a well-organized opposition proved disastrous. Our baby gridders emerged from the conflict two touchdowns to the bad.

Taught a severe lesson by the previous week's misfortune, the Freshmen took no chances with the Tate County Aggies. So well did the first-year men play, that Tate County was overwhelmed from the first blast of the whistle.

Mississippi College proved the next and last victim of our fighting Freshers. Jackson had the pleasure of seeing Ole Miss trounce the Baby Choctaws by the convincing score of 26 to 12. Never had the team played better football and the decisive victory was well deserved.

Everything seemed in readiness for the climax of a successful season—the contest with the embryo cowpunchers. Our youthful gridders were determined to revenge the defeat A. & M. had but recently administered to their older gridiron brothers. Unfortunately, rain thwarted our defenders, and the Baby Aggies were saved certain humiliation.

CAPTAIN MONTGOMERY

As a basketball player Montgomery's talent equals his ability as a pigskin artist. This implies that he is the best the team can boast.

Basketball, 1923

WITH but ten seconds to go and the score tied, Johnnie Montgomery sailed down the court at lightning speed, shot a goal from the field, and gave Ole Miss the winning points in the basketball game at the Southern Tournament, in which the champion University of North Carolina five was forced to bow to the Red and Blue of Mississippi. The next morning the entire South realized the prowess of the rugged little five that had come out of the hills of northern Mississippi to baffle for championship honors. Ole Miss had won herself a place in the hearts of thousands of fans, and the Carolina victory was the climax of the season. The Tarheels came to the tournament with over twenty straight victories and not a single defeat, and in defeating them Ole Miss won a premier claim to one of the best basket teams of the South. Although Ole Miss was eliminated from the tournament on the following night, it was done by the team which was destined to leave Atlanta as the champions of the South.

When Coach Sullivan began to get things in readiness for the '23 cage season, he found that he would have a corps of seasoned veterans around which to build his quintet. In Montgomery, Scruggs, Flowers and Captain Swartz he had four men who had played in many glorious court battles. "Bob" Johnson was discovered and proved one of the best centers that has played with an Ole Miss team. E. Johnson, Breland, Herrinton, Holder and Rape got their first chance at varsity experience, and their work aided in making for many victories.

Including the tournament in Atlanta, fifteen games were played by the Ole Miss quintet. Eight resulted in victories for Mississippi, while opponents won in seven contests. While this may not look like a successful season, a scrutiny of the record will show that only one team won the series from Ole Miss. Over against this may be set victories over the strongest universities of Dixie.

Tennessee fives came to the campus for the first games of the season. West Tennessee Normal came out of Memphis with an eleven which surprised the locals, and at the conclusion of the first game the Tennesseans were the victors by the narrow margin of one field goal. Ole Miss got revenge on the second night, and the Normalites were unable to stem the raging tide of the Red and Blue forwards. Union came to Oxford next. The first affair was a walkover for Captain Swartz's charges. However, on the second night, everything seemed to go wrong with Mississippi, and the superior foul shooting of Union dethroned Ole Miss by the score of 14 to 12.

The Millsaps Majors threw a scare in the Ole Miss camp when they came over from Starkville, where they had divided the series with the Mississippi Aggies. The Purple threat did not materialize in the duo of games here. Ole Miss had everything her way the first night, though Millsaps showed somewhat stiffer opposition during the second clash.

On the first road trip Ole Miss failed to bring down a single victory. The old rivalry with the Mississippi Aggies was deepened by virtue of two successive defeats by the Maroon five. Scruggs and Swartz fought hard in their last appearance on the Aggie campus, but to no avail.

At Tuscaloosa, Alabama administered the third defeat of the trip, taking the Ole Miss five in tow by a margin of ten points.

After a rest and practice at home Coach Sullivan's five underwent a great change and began the victorious finish that characterized the season. A. & M. came to the campus for the remaining games of the four-game series. Ole Miss fought heroically, holding the lead until the very end of the game. Then the Aggie forward tied the score, and Norris threw the winning goal from the field just as the whistle blew. The regenerated Red and Blue quintet would not be denied on the following night, when we won our only victory over the Aggie aggregation.

S. P. U. surrendered her claims to Ole Miss in a game that was featured by the shooting of Breland, who accounted for a majority of the Mississippi goals.

The best feat of the campus season was the 20 to 17 defeat of the University of Alabama. The Crimson tide far outweighed the scrappy little bunch of Ole Miss, and their appearance on the floor cast grave doubts over the minds of the fans. But Mississippi was right and Alabama was not. From the first, Coach Sullivan's men had all things their way. Victory came comparatively easy. With the Southern Tournament the season ended.

Basketball, 1924

Pre-season dope rated the Ole Miss cagers among the best in the South. The dope has not been upset, unless it is that the team's success to date (February 24) had been even greater than predicted.

Beginning with the weak College Hill team as practice opponents, the Red and Blue have piled up a total score of 604 points, secured a claim to the state championship, and made a very serious contender for all-Southern honors.

College Hill succumbed by the one-sided scores of 40 to 9 and 56 to 2.

Going south for a few pre-season games, the Ole Miss Cagers lost to the strong D'Lo "Y" quintette, but retrieved its reputation by defeating the Hattiesburg "Y" the following night by 39 to 27, and two days later the Laurel "Y" proved the strength of the Red and Blue when it lost to Ole Miss, 37 to 27.

Our cagers found little difficulty with the light Tennessee Normal quintette and won both games of the series handily.

Loyola proved a bit more difficult to handle, but fell before the Red and Blue in two games, 26 to 15 and 15 to 14.

But the next two nights Tulane provided the surprise of the season, defeating the Mississippi Cagers in both games of the series, though by the closest of scores.

A week later Millsaps provided another surprise by taking the second game of a two-game series, but, on the whole, the Red and Blue machine showed itself the superior combination.

ROSENTHAL, Manager

The University of Tennessee was the next victim of our fighting quintette and went down before the Red and Blue by the scores of 24 to 13 and 32 to 29.

Mississippi College, a week later, gave the Ole Miss Cagers a terrific struggle, but, as invincible as ever, the Red and Blue captured both games.

Union University proved itself a well-balanced team, but no match for the winning combination of the Red and Blue, and our cagers again captured all the games of the series.

The following week provided the climax of a successful season of campus games. The ancient and much-respected rival, A. & M., invaded our lair. Dope matched the teams evenly. Again dope was correct. When time was called the score stood 27 to 27. Never has the gym resounded with such cheering, never have twelve musicians played so loudly as did the improvised band, never had Ole Miss spirit been so high as the game was resumed for five minutes. Izard proved the man of destiny. Standing almost in the center of the court, he placed the ball squarely in the basket. Two minutes more the game had ended, and the ancient rival had tasted defeat.

The second game of the series was played at A. & M. and ended oppositely, the final score being 47 to 42. Ole Miss made the majority of the field goals, but our rivals got the game on foul shots. Neither game showed which team was superior, but the summaries seem to give Ole Miss the edge.

At this writing (February 24) the season is over except for the Southern Inter-collegiate Tournament at Atlanta, to be held next week. Scanning the dope on all the entries in the tourney, we are prompted to say that the Ole Miss aggregation will go far and make itself felt heavily there. A. & M. is almost sure to lose her crown, and of all the contenders, Ole Miss looms as the most likely to take it away from her.

TRACK TEAM OF 1923

Track Season of 1923

The season's record finds little accomplished, save the interest on the sport attained a high mark never before attained. A fairly large squad reported for work on the cinder path all season, and an interest was aroused in the student-body which made possible the raising the sport to one of major importance.

Arthur S. Clausen, volunteer coach, managed the squad very efficiently, laying the foundation for a very good team in the future. There were two meets during the season. One at Tulane resulted in an overwhelming defeat, though not a disastrous one when considering the impulse it added to the sport. Ike Boone was the star for us, winning the half mile easily and placing hard second in the two-twenty. Captain Hand acquitted himself well, taking second in the hundred and four-forty. The mile relay was very close, with the teams alternating for the lead many times. It was won by Tulane in very good time.

The second meet was on the campus with Mississippi College, but it was interrupted after the third event by rain. Pete Hand won the hundred in good time. Ike Boone came second in the two-twenty, running barefooted, having lost his shoe in the first few yards. Tom Ross lost a very good mile by a few feet at the tape.

Nine letters were awarded for the season's work, as follows: Captain Hand, H. T. Beacham, J. D. Biles, T. T. Ross, H. C. Bass, C. T. Smithson, M. C. Moody, A. S. Clausen, I. M. Boone.

Prospects for 1924

With an experienced coach to give his full time to the sport this spring, track bids fair to become a leading sport here. Coach Vinsell has achieved many honors on the cinder path at Grinnell and he knows the sport in all its different events. He has the complete confidence of all the men of the squad, and the whole university as well.

An intramural meet will be held on April 12. It will serve the double purpose of arousing an interest and of discovering material. The usual inter-dormitory rivalry assures the success of this meet.

There are a number of high school stars among the Freshmen and great attention will be paid to their development. A Varsity-Freshman meet will be held on April 19, which should be rather close and very interesting.

The varsity season will open with a dual meet on the campus, with West Tennessee Normal on May 3. The next week the team will journey to Atlanta to the Southern Conference Meet on May 9-10. Pre-season dope seems to indicate that the Ole Miss cinder men will make a very creditable showing in Atlanta, though high honors could not be expected in so new a team.

On May 19 the season will close with the return meet with Tulane on the campus. An easy victory for Tulane last year, it should be a very close contest this year.

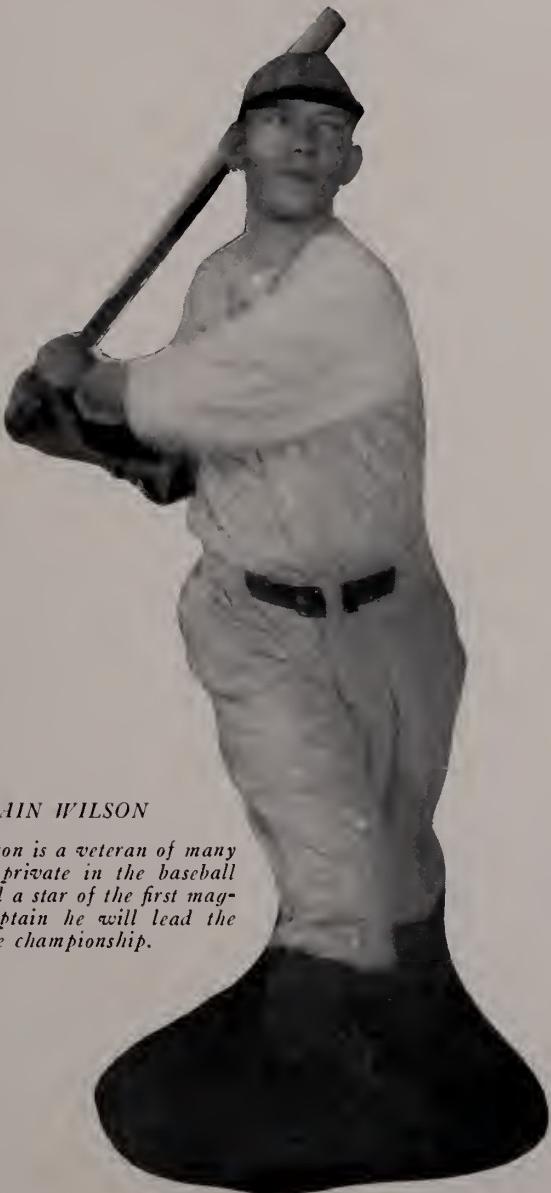

Predictions at this time (February 24) of individual stars would be too speculative to be of any value. However, we have six of last year's letter men back, including the two most dependable ones, Ike Boone and ex-Captain Hand. All indications point to a most successful season.

Captain Wilson is a veteran of many battles. As a private in the baseball ranks he proved a star of the first magnitude. As captain he will lead the '24 squad to the championship.

Baseball Season of 1923

INETEEN hundred and twenty-three brought with it but small hope of baseball success. The abundance of fielding material, we thought, could not offset our lack of pitchers and heavy hitters.

Our misgivings were without foundation.

For the first time Ole Miss was provided with a fulltime baseball coach, Frank S. (Pete) Shields, of the Texas League, being secured to lead the nine. Coach Shields brought a new spirit and the glory of former days when Ole Miss walked over the teams of the South. Immediately things began to happen. A new spirit was evident among players and students. Championship aspirations, as of old, brought new life.

A trip to L. S. U. and Mississippi College inaugurated the baseball program. The claws of the Tigers were trimmed at the first onslaught, and "Red" Lester, given splendid support by an errorless team, emerged a 2 to 1 victor. The second encounter, however, brought Tiger revenge, the wildness of Fernandez allowing the Louisianians to annex three scores in the second inning without the pretense of a hit.

The Ole Miss warriors soon found revenge. Invading the Choctaw camp after leaving L. S. U., Coach Shields' nine gave the Collegians an emphatic whitewashing. "Pot" Johnson, making his debut on the mound for Ole Miss, pitched in masterly fashion.

Back on the campus the varsity prepared for an invasion from the North. The University of Wisconsin came south to give us battle. The cardinals, flushed with victories of previous years, expected little opposition. But former records meant nothing to the Ole Miss nine and the Wisconsin team departed with a percentage of .000.

Smarting under the recent shut-out and determined upon revenge, the Choctaws came upon us in great force. With the team were fully seventy-five ardent supporters. The first encounter brought to the Collegians what they desired—revenge—and for the first time since the opening of the season gloom began to settle on the Ole Miss campus. On the following day the invincible Choctaw hurler, Clarke, was scheduled to display his wares and the enthusiasm of the Collegians was unbounded. The crucial battle proved one between the pitching of Clarke and the batting of Barbour, and the latter triumphed. Ole Miss again boosted its percentage and the Collegians resigned their claim to the championship of the state to Ole Miss.

A disaster came to the Ole Miss team at this time from which it never fully recovered. Pete Wilson was claimed by sickness, and the Tennessee Vols, who next gave us battle, benefited greatly thereby. Unable to hit, the Ole Miss nine lost the first game of the series, 3 to 2. The second encounter proved a no-decision affair, ending in the seventh inning with the score 1 to 1.

The following week the Millsaps team presented itself for slaughter. Owing to the recuperation of the Ole Miss batters, the Millsaps' outfielders were placed in excellent training for track.

A. & M. came next—and so did our jinx. Everything that could go wrong did so at once and without hesitation. The Aggie invasion proved disastrous, and Ole Miss was left to mourn the loss of two hopeless games.

A week of practice brought a much-needed recovery, and the last road trip of the season was crowned with success. Of the four games played three were won, two against Millsaps and one against the Aggies. With the end of the last A. & M. game the curtain fell on one of the most successful seasons we have had.

Results of the Freshman Season of 1923

Four straight victories over the A. & M. freshies and a total of twenty-eight runs for Ole Miss to six for the Aggies, and you have the climax of the University of Mississippi Freshman baseball season for 1923. Taking their stride in the clashes with the Aggies, the university's traditional rivals, the Ole Miss first-year men outfought, outplayed and overwhelmed the Starkville lads.

It is hard to pay fitting praise to the glorious season of 1923. Few teams of any university have ever gone through such a successful round. Seventeen victories out of eighteen starts and victories over every school team encountered compose a record that is rarely equaled and hardly ever surpassed. The only defeat came at the hands of the Batesville semi-pros and had no effect upon the collegiate standing of the Red and Blue Juniors.

The first call issued by Coach Sullivan brought forth material which immediately showed that it had the stuff to develop into the state champion freshman nine of the state. In the early practices the nine got off to a good start, and the men were in the pink of condition when they initiated the season with the College Hill team. The Aggies were put to sleep by a score of 7 to 1 in the first game of the season. In a second contest they received practically the same drubbing, 8 to 1.

After dividing the series with the Batesville town team, the Red and Blue nine trounced the Tate County A. H. S. in a brace of games and hit the winning stride which was uninterrupted throughout the season. The Tupelo Military Academy was defeated twice on the home ground, and West Tennessee Normal handed the same drubbing. Ole Miss repeated over the Normals in taking a double-header on the Memphis diamond.

With such a background of victory the Red and Blue was waving wildly when it encountered the Aggies, and when the series was over it was lashing with such fury that the staff could hardly stand the strain, while the Maroon and White was trailing the dust like the emblem of a conquered king following in a triumph of imperial Rome. When the sun went down on that last eventful May day, four Freshman twirlers had faced the Aggies, each had won his game and added his part in making the 1923 Freshman nine the undisputed champions of the Magnolia State.

The complete record for the season follows: Ole Miss, 7; College Hill, 1; Ole Miss, 8; College Hill, 1; Ole Miss, 1; Batesville, 3; Ole Miss, 18; Batesville, 2; Ole Miss, 1; Tate County A. H. S., 0; Ole Miss, 9; Tate County A. H. S., 1; Ole Miss, 11; Tate County Aggies, 1; Ole Miss, 8; Tate County, 2; Ole Miss, 3; T. M. I., 0; Ole Miss, 10; T. M. I., 2; Ole Miss, 7; West Tennessee Normal, 1; Ole Miss, 10; West Tennessee Normal, 2; Ole Miss, 9; West Tennessee Normal, 6; Ole Miss, 10; West Tennessee Normal, 4; Ole Miss, 9; A. & M., 1; Ole Miss, 8; A. & M., 1; Ole Miss, 7; A. & M., 2; Ole Miss, 3; A. & M., 2.

Baseball Prospects of 1924

We will make no attempt to forecast the results of the coming season in baseball. We only mention that prospects look brighter than ever before since the old Southern championship days, which seem about to return. The best augur of good fortune is the fact that Pete Shields will be with the team throughout the entire season. He is a former star of the Red and Blue, and showed his ability in the short time he was with the team last season. He is a leader in every sense of the word, and has the complete confidence and respect of the team and student-body. The pitching staff will be perhaps the most numerous and the strongest of any Southern team this year. The vacancies in the infield and outfield will be adequately filled from the ranks of the victorious Freshman nine of last year. Captain Wilson is the ideal captain, a source of inspiration as well as ability. The future is bright, if dope means anything.

Below we give the complete schedule. It looks good and Coach Sullivan deserves our congratulations on its arrangement.

GEORGE HALL FOOTBALL TEAM

Intramural Football

Interest in football did not wane with the dying season. Instead, football became more than ever the talk of the campus. Men unknown to the gridiron world flashed forth as dazzling stars. The inauguration of interdormitory games brought with it the awakening of a new spirit. The colleges of America are too apt to forget the physical welfare of the many in the development of a choice few. Those who make our teams are those most physically fit, and less in need of exercise than their weaker brethren.

Intramural games have proved a step in the right direction. Interest in football became universal.

The campus games were not played in vain. Men who had not been noticed before were brought to the coaches' attention. Many discovered a latent ability, and another year will find them fighting not for dormitory honors, but varsity laurels.

After a series of hotly-contested games, during which interest was constantly at fever pitch, the strong George Hall eleven emerged victorious.

At the close of the season the following were chosen as all intramural stars:

"Retrospection of the School of Pharmacy"

The passing of the session of 1923-24 marks the fifteenth year in the history of the School of Pharmacy of the University. No department of this institution has grown more rapidly nor came more forcibly into recognition in the last decade and a half. It had an unpretentious beginning in a modestly equipped classroom which served for a laboratory as well. During its infancy it was fostered by Dr. Henry Minor Faser, who, in addition to bearing the official title of dean, constituted the entire faculty and working corps and served as vice-president of the Pharmaceutical Association of America. The history of the School of Pharmacy is inseparably connected with the activities of Dean Faser. Working with poor equipment, insufficient funds and no assistance, he has made it a veritable power in the pharmacy profession.

Last year Dr. George L. Burroughs became connected with the school in the capacity of professor of botany and microscopy. Dr. Burroughs has made a splendid addition to the personnel of the university faculty as well as to the efficiency of the School of Pharmacy. His keen interest in all the affairs of the campus and his earnest desire to promote the success of his department, have made him especially effective.

Thus the School of Pharmacy entered upon the session of 1922-23 with its faculty doubled in number. Yet the dream of its youth was not realized until, with the opening of the present session, it became established in a new chemistry-pharmacy building, the best of its kind in the South. It is a far cry from the simple laboratory classroom in the basement of the Medical Building to the imposing structure which now houses the Department of Pharmacy. Two pharmaceutical laboratories, a prescription room, a manufacturing laboratory, a pharmacognosy laboratory, two chemistry laboratories for pharmacy students and departmental lecture rooms compose the school, accommodating eighty-five students, the largest number in its history.

Such has been the eventful life of the School of Pharmacy. It stands today one of the most virile and influential departments of the university and a potent ward of the state. Let its worth be attested by the scores of living monuments, products of its efficiency, who daily dispense healing medicines in the hamlets, villages and cities of this and other states.

The first seven were chosen by Coles Phillips, famous illustrator and artist, from a large number of pictures submitted. In returning the pictures he expressed his congratulations on the beauty of Mississippi girls. We must agree that they were all beautiful and his task was a difficult one.

The eighth was chosen by popular vote as the most beautiful girl at the Mississippi State College for Women. The ninth was chosen as sponsor by the management. The remaining three were winners in the popular elections held in the fall at the university. Ten, most beautiful; eleven, most popular; twelve, most attractive.

SOMEBOODY
Has said that Love means everything—
SOMETIMES happiness,
Sometimes misery—
Sweetest adventure, tragic boredom.
SOMEHOW our memories are Reveries of the things we love—
Little things that count,
Not always big successes, nor big failures.
SOMETHING she whispered in your ear,
Maybe your first date at school.
We cannot stand forever upon the threshold of life
And look forward to a glorious future, but SOMEDAY will come when we Shall derive a great deal of our pleasure
And happiness from memories of the past.
SOMEHOW God pities the man without his memories;
He could never
Live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man.
SOMEWHERE you have stored up memories
Of your school days.
It is to these memories we dedicate our book.

Sometimes

SOMETIMES you'll pause, look back,
Perhaps, and smile
At those recollections of your college days.
We are writing for that
SOMETIME, to help you look back and smile.
If, then, we
In
SOME WAY, bring back
Your thoughts, your indifference,
Your disappointments, your happiness—
SOMEWHERE reflects the true spirit
Of college life outside the classrooms,
Then we'll consider our book
SOMEWHAT of a success.
So peep right in
And see.

THE STUDE
HIS VALET

ACT I

Stude: Why so early this morning, Henry? Have I a date before lunch?

Henry: I'll see, sir. (Goes to table, consults memorandum). Yes, sir. You have, sir.

Stude: Who'n the hell is it with? I can't remember 'em all?

Henry: With Miss Burnham, sir.

Stude: Why, I had a date with her last month.

Henry: Yes, sir. I know, sir, but this is another date, sir.

Stude: This will never do. The fellows all believe she's in love with me anyway. Where's my breakfast?

(Henry exits, returning immediately with elaborate breakfast tray.)

Henry: Right here, sir.

(Stude examines everything disgustedly, then proceeds to eat indifferently.)

(At this juncture the bell is heard sounding forth its plaintive wails from the rear of the lyceum, where it has hung, lo, these many years. The Stude casts a bored glance through the window as Henry silently crosses to seat at the receiving set and proceeds to write in the notebook what he hears.)

Stude (irritatedly): Henry, you must be more careful with your notetaking. Those psychology notes you took Tuesday were very boresome—too much repetition. And the Physics was all about some absurdly gigantic phenomenon of such tremendous importance that I have never discovered just what it was all about. Then you simply have got to improve your penmanship. I have received two complaints from Dr. Wallace that he was unable to distinguish the "ie's" and "ei's". Now if you are in doubt about my spelling consult the Britannica. It's always safe.

Henry (fawningly): Y-e-s, s-i-r. I'm very sorry, but there was so much static in the atmosphere yesterday I was unable to get the lectures very clearly. I did not hear just why the old cow crosses the road and what Dr. Milden said about the "arcade of the panto." For a long time I thought it was thundering, but at last I caught the words: "Habla Usted Es-pa-nol."

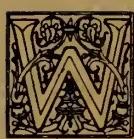

Stude: You must learn to be more pains-taking. The dear profs will think I am becoming indifferent and negligent about my work. Has the paper come this morning?

Henry: Yes, sir. Here it is, sir. (Hands him the Mississippian, now a daily). The boy just delivered it.

Stude: Let's see (scans headlines). Well, well (reads). "The Y. M. C. A., acting from a sense of moral uplift and social reform, has entered upon its campaign for the suppression of the use of all slang words at our university." Damn what the—well, it's a jolly good idea. A lot of good boys go wrong that way at college. I don't see why they don't turn the school over to the Y and elect the secretary in place of chancellor. What's this (reads)? "The faculty, after an extended executive session, posted this morning the official notice that the vulgar and unsophisticated practice of chewing gum upon the campus would henceforth be considered a shipping offense." Henry, throw away that package of Wrigley's on the table. Don't we have to sacrifice a lot to be of the elite?

Punics and Vandals

E'RE awful—we admit it—spendthrifts, wasters and such. We are never allowed to forget our vices and failings. They are hurled at us continually by would-be architects of human nature or moulders of personality. In striving to set the world back in its conventional orbit, these heralds of the Arcadian age seem to forget that times do change—that age-old ideas are being broken down and many have already been stifled by the dust of oblivion.

When H. G. Wells stops to speak people generally listen to what he says whether it amounts to much or not. It must be great to have attentive listeners like that. This powerful pusher of the pen has even taken it upon himself to hurl his deadly invective upon the poor, unoffending American universities.

H. G. Wells has branded us "sissies"—has alleged that the present output of our colleges is killing the vigor and virility of American manhood. Now H. G. Wells did not have to come all the way to the dear old United States of America to make this startling discovery. If he would have but examined the output of his native universities and observed the results of international collegiate contests he would have been "Chawmed I'm shure."

But our critics do not all come from across the seas. Great moralizers abound even in our own land of the free and home of the brave. We have been arraigned from all sides. College men no longer seek education. They come to college now to acquire the "air," to learn to strut. Universities are annually flooding the nation with vain, foppish young H. A.'s, whose chief ambition in life is to create a better false appearance than his fellowmen.

Still more radical changers would do away with co-educational institutions, separate and isolate the sexes. They would go so far as to deprive us of all that men call romance.

We are prone to procrastinate, allowed to become shirkers, wasters of time. We are ungrateful, careless of the feelings of others—barbaric natures hidden under cultured exteriors—we are modern punics and vandals. The reformers would paint it so.

Neglectful and thoughtless of all the sacredness of obligations, of destructive bent, not caring who must pay—punics and vandals indeed.

To those reformers who would so remodel our educational institutions we dedicate the following page to the passing of conventional ideas with all due respect to those who come to criticise.

University of Mississippi.
September 30, 1922.

My Darlin' Mamma:

I've only been here one week—but, oh, Mamma—I never did know how long one week could seem. The train was greeted by a great crowd of fellows all yelling and hollering to everybody else—but louder than all the rest—everybody was yelling at the "Freshmen," and I knew they meant me by that, and, Mamma, you don't know how I did feel. There was a sort 'er quivering feeling about my knees and my self-control all left me. Why, I couldn't even smile when I tried, and the longer I heard it the worse it got.

I decided to get out of it, so I asked one fellow where the university was. He pointed way up among a big clump of high trees and a little wooden bridge across a deep ditch. I asked him again, for I didn't see nothing but woods, and all he said was "Follow the walk. You can't miss it."

Well I started, but I didn't get far before the whole crowd spied me—and, oh, how they did turn loose: "Freshman, where're you goin'? Grab a grip." I stopped limp. I couldn't work my feet real well. Several fellows came running up to me and handed me suitcases and grips 'til I looked like the head porter at Grand Central. They told me where to take them, but I never found any of the places—but I guess the right fellow finally got the grips.

I started up a hill that looked like "Pike's Peak" to me with two suitcases in each hand and a grip under one arm, and after four relays and two rests I got to the top, but all the university I had seen was four white houses in a row just alike that someone had told me was the "B" row—whatever that is. Next we came to a little red brick house that looked just like Parish prison. I was about ready to turn around an' go back home, but I followed the general line of march through the woods 'til we got to a big circular concrete walk. I got by the rest of that day all right by asking questions from guys that looked friendly, and from a tent out on the campus marked "Information" run by an old darkey they call "Blind Jim"—he's dean of the Freshmen, so he says—and he seems very much down on A. & M., and also very eager to remind all the Freshmen that he needs a new overcoat for the winter.

The next surprise came just after supper—as I was leaving the dining hall—proud of the vast store of its vernacular that I had acquired; i. e., skids, spuds, zip, etc.—why I was hailed by a guy all smiling, so friendly like, that whispers in my ear that he's giving a party up in room No. 75 and wants me to be guest of honor—to come up and meet the boys. Well, I thanked him for the invitation and started right on up. I found a room full of other Freshmen all standing around looking awfully scared up about something, but I marched in calm-like and took a seat on the bed and began introducing myself, for I felt awfully good—why, wasn't I going to be the guest of honor? Yes. I was.

Well, in about a minute here comes a whole bunch of fellows in a run, and each one had a board about three feet long in his hand and a grin about that wide on his face. I began to feel as though I'd come to the wrong room or that there was a mistake somewhere. I asked somebody, but the very fellow that had invited me up says: "Here's the guest of honor, boys. Over by the door, Freshman." Well, I got there and the others strung out beside me—I can't describe the next half hour—but, oh, Mamma, I'll never forget it—never—if I live to be a thousand. They seemed to keep coming in that door forever, but it did end, and after a long, long time—but, oh—they did wield a wicked wallop. Tell Buddie never to cry no more when Pa uses the cowhide on him—just to console himself, for it's good training if he's coming to school up here.

After waiting from eight-thirty until a quarter of five the next day at the dean's office I got matriculated. That sounded pretty bad, but it was all right. It's sure fierce—the extra expenses they have up here—that ain't in the catalog—why, I've already bought me a chapel reservation—I got a good seat on the eighth row for fifty cents—the one ticket is good for the whole season—I've also purchased a couple of campus tickets—they're mostly to identify you as to whether you're a student. I got two because I'm awfully careless you know, and I knew I'd lose one—for after this week they'll be thirty-five cents instead of two bits. Besides that, I got me a bath ticket—that's for use of the showers—I gave a fellow a quarter and he said he'd deliver the ticket to my room—I've still got the receipt.

I think I'm going to like this place fine when I get used to the parties. You know I'm not used to so much entertainment, but I mind it less all the time. The third morning the upper classmen made all of us Freshmen scrub up a lot of red "24s" on the walk in front of Gordon Hall, but I managed to get away early—told 'em I had an eight o'clock class so they let me off 'til after dinner.

I ain't had time to do much studying for having so many callers. Everybody is so friendly up here, especially the upper classmen, that is, when they want something done.

I'm still remembering to brush my teeth every night and wash behind my ears every morning. They don't punch my bath ticket every time I take a bath so I don't wait 'til Saturday night, but I've been taking one most every day—'cause over here folks don't judge a fellow by his family records, but by what they see of him.

I guess that's all, so I'll close this time.

Your loving son,

HENRY.

They've Gone, They've Left Us

In passion and pride,
Once dutiful Freshmen—
By rules now abide.

They've changed and they show it
In actions and looks—
No longer obedient
To 'classmen nor books.

They strut on the campus,
But follow the walks,
And pay no attention
When the 'classman talks.

But they've gone—they've left us
And now in their stead—
We've a new type of Freshman
With a very swelled head.

They talk loud and sassy—
Air their ideas—
Gone are the Freshmen
With tremulous fears.

Ye Knights of the Paddle—
Oh! ye days of yore—
When Freshmen obeyed
And were not such a bore.

The mice never played
Until the old cat slept,
So things might be different
If the rules were kept.

The Psalmist Again

(Longfellow's "Psalm of Life" has furnished material for more school doggerel than probably any other piece of literature. No college annual is entirely complete without a bit of lofty sentimental parodying, so herewith we offer our contribution.)

When your golden hair is silver
And my raven locks are grey—
When we look back from tomorrow—
To a happy yesterday,
After years have rolled on swiftly,
And heavily may be,
You'll turn back the pages lightly
Of your book of memory.
Then as figures in a crystal
Come the friends of years ago
Sad and happy recollections
Of the ones we used to know.

Childhood, free and happy,
Puts away its playful joys
Before the youth and romance
Of grown-up girls and boys.
But in the world's broad field of knowledge
They said twelve years was not enough,
So then we all have come to college
To get the surplus stuff.
We work hard, and try still harder
To make fond profs believe we do,
So when we've served four years with ardor
We may surely know we're through.

Our successes and our failures
Are not measured by our fame.
It's not the greatest one among us
That often wears the greatest name.
Real success is the proportion
Of what we can to what we do each day,
Gold and glory prove false idols—
They're so easily swept away—
And the goal of many seekers
When they reach it only seems
To show them their sad failure
In the ashes of their dreams.

But we are not without ambition.
We each had dreams and castles in the air,
Though, perhaps, they all have vanished,
Leaving stern realities there.
For lives of Seniors all remind us
We may some day, too, be great—
But the future usually finds us
In a happy wedded state.
So is the sweetest memory
Often sadder than the rest—
A melancholy reminiscence
The one we love the best.

Life's a funny proposition,
We hear the happy poet sing—
A thing that's made of trifles,
And yet's no trifling thing.
For when we sit tomorrow thinking
In reveries from out the past,
It's not the great success or failure
We remember to the last,
But the trivial little something
That has the human touch
To which the heart beats quicker
Even though it isn't much.

My Warning to You

I'm guilty.
I admit it—
I used to love a girl
As you do.
But they're all alike,
These women,
Every single one.
I picked her flowers
In the daytime,
And bought her
Shows and candy every night.
She let me hold her hand
And squeeze it—
And that ain't all.
I tried to catch
Her heart,
But when I asked her
If she loved me—
She looked Sad and sweet and smiled—
“I like you lots,
Old dearie, and
I'll be a sister
To you, sweet.”
But now,
Thank God,
I've found them out,
And now, by Jove,
I'm through.

A College Tragedy

Of all sad words
Of tongue or pen,
The saddest they say
Is
It might have been.
The tale
Of life, I've heard,
Is sad;
But I know of one
That's twice that bad.
It's the story
Of the fellow who drank
For fun,
But then
He passed out
As the dance begun.

HEARD JUST BEFORE THE DANCE

“Remember, Johnnie, if you pass out
I can wear your Tux.”

Suppose You Had to Listen to These Every Day?

Was that picture of me good?
Which one did you use?
Kinda keeps you busy, doesn't it?
What commission do you get for selling annuals?
What are you going to have in it?
Will it be thicker than last year's?
Here's a good one you ought to put in.
I don't want an annual. My picture won't be in it.
My roommate bought one. What do I need with it?
Don't guess I can use one today.
I wouldn't have your job for a thousand dollars.
What will you take for a page in the beauty section?
You look sleepy. Why don't you get some sleep?
Sure 'nuff, I want to know who won the popularity elections.
Who is it to be dedicated to? I think so and so would be very appropriate.
Is it too late to turn my picture in? (This one comes from September to May without intermission).
And the perpetual: When will the annuals be out?
THE POOR, AFFLICTED, OVERWORKED, SUFFERING EDITOR HAS TO!

WE INSURE YOU!

MAKE OLE MISS A WINTER RESORT!

Insure yourself against professors and other failures. Let your failures pay your way through college. If the professors don't appreciate your brains, the co-eds will your money. Laugh at pop-writtens—they mean less pop-written checks.

Girls, Think of Your Feet!

Our Foot-Ease Dancing Policy for ladies beats Blue-Jay in stopping that after-dance pain. Take out one of our famous policies and then write your A. & M. friends to come over.

Boys, Why Worry?

If sweetie stands you up, let us be the one to worry. Our Broken-Hearted Policy for young men will make you laugh when sheik makes a date with her!

There was once a man who went hunting. When he was a long ways from home it began to rain very, very hard. Seeing no other shelter, the man crawled into a hollow log and went to sleep. When he awoke the log had swollen so that he could not get out. The man felt that his last days had come. At once he began to realize he had wasted most of his life and had failed to take out that policy when the BLUEBIRD salesman called the day before. This made him feel so small that he crawled right out of the little end of the log. Moral: Let the BLUEBIRD help you out of tight places.

The Height of Indifference

Mystic midnight—
Moonbeam magic—
Man and maid.

They strolled
About the campus,
She clinging to his Arm with loving Clasp.

They talked
About the music.
It was the first
Intermission.

They stopped
About a seat
And sat a while
In silence.

The moon, "Isn't it Wonderful?" she Whispered as she Rested her head
Upon his shoulder.

"A trifle full,
Don't you think?"
He replied
Straightening his collar.

A Stude There Was

A Stude there was
And he made his prayer,
Even as you and I,
To a rag, cropped dome, and shank all bare.
Now pa had told him to beware,
But the Stude fell hard, for the face was fair—

Even as you and I.

The Stude regretted
That he made his prayer,
Even as you and I,
To the flapper who really didn't care.
When his dough was gone he got the air.
She vamped a guy that had the fare—
Even as you and I.

---

"I'm chilly,"
She said.
"Then perhaps we'd Better go inside,"
Was all that

Impressionistic Views of a Freshman

A Freshman goes to the picture show because he likes it. He is greeted with a house so dark that the flashlight of the usher makes no impression on the gloom of the place. After stumbling into a seat, he hears the hum of bullets in the air, but soon learns that it is only innocent peanuts used for missiles, whereupon he is glad, and proceeds to stop as many as possible and eats as many as he can recover. But he soon tires of the sport, for his ears and the back of his head begin to smart from contact with the rapidly-moving projectiles. Whereupon he discovers the first law of the college stude at the movies; i. e., "Keep your head low and avoid disaster." He soon becomes absorbed in the effort of trying to follow the story on the screen, thereby showing his green inexperience—such an interest in the show is unpardonable in a finished student. The screen is to be seen dimly in the distance through an almost impenetrable smoke barrage, the effect of which causes him to sneeze and cough. The scenes are almost always characterized by the trials and tribulations of the heroine who is exceedingly beautiful and easy to look at—if the conditions of sight were only such as to make looking possible. Just as the heroine becomes involved in an inextricable misfortune and the villain is about to get the kiss, for which he has worked so long, the film breaks, and howls of discontent and "give us a show" fall upon his already muchly-abused ears. In fact, he decides that he has at last some use for the word pandemonium which his teacher made him learn to spell. The house rocks with the scraping of many feet, and the Freshman scrapes his also, thinking thereby to give the appearance of a finished movie hound, like the other students.

The Freshman likes to go to the movies because the fresh air smells so good—when he gets out.

Modern Conceptions

The modern conception of a hero is the person who can persistently, day after day, eat Gordon Hall steak.

The newest version of the Shakespearean "Romeo" is the Ed. who takes his co-ed the candy he won on a slot machine.

Of all people on earth, the night watchman is the one laboring under the least illusions as to the grandeur of a college education. He sees too much of the "dark" side of it.

A new conception on our campus this year has been the predominance for the first time in history of ten-year-old-Fords-without-mufflers, especially during the fall term. They all wore out by spring.

A college student will come to his breakfast late, be late to his classes, or perhaps not go at all, but never has one been known to refuse a chance to go to the show, or to sit all night in a BULL party.

The faculty and students have a paper war in the columns of the Mississippian. Much wit and very little knowledge is expended on both sides, but good feeling is enjoyed all around. Such a method of procedure is quite within the realm of new conceptions.

And here is one that will never happen. It was the very first class of the season. A Freshman head was very timidly inserted in the door, about fifteen minutes after the bell had rung. Mr. Wallace was heard to say, "Come on in, Freshman. The gravy train is about to start!"

The Campus Politician

He Hailed me
From a distance—
I wondered why.
He shook my hand
In friendly greeting,
And with a cordial smile—
I wondered why.
We strolled along Together
And talked of many things.
He offered me a smoke—
I wondered why.
We looked in
For mail
And he insisted
On buying me a drink and a cigar—
I wondered why.
It wasn't quite Like him. Really
I didn't know
Just what to think.
He spoke to all the fellows.
Had for each
A friendly smile—
I wondered why.
Strolled around
And chatted
With each one quite a while.
Then
He came back
To me and we Walked back up the hill—
While I wondered
Why so specially nice to me still.
Finally,
At the psychological Moment
(He felt it so,
I guess)—
I wonder why.
He made the explanation
That put my wonders all to rest.
The last that
I saw of him
He was hailing
Someone else—
I didn't wonder why.
Having quite forgotten me,
For he was just
The campus politician
Running for a managership—you see.

Something for Nothing

E are all glib enough, at times, to admit that we belong to the A. P. O. N.* Club; but, although probably unconsciously, in most cases this is the sad truth.

And yet as self-admitted "dead beats" we continue to expect something from others—something for nothing. Do we forget that the law of compensation is still in force? Do we no longer believe in reciprocity?

If we permit ourselves only to enjoy "cheap" things we can only expect a "cheap" reaction on ourselves. But this is the wrong idea. Finer things cannot be secured at a low price. Education above all things should not be "cheap." We pay dearer for knowledge bought at the school of experience than any other, and it is rightly so.

Drama, art, literature, music, science, can only be enjoyed by paying the price, and that price will not be "cheap." Whatever is cheap is admittedly of small value.

Remember this when you "kick" about your annual, "Mississippian," lyceum and Marionette shows, and everything for which you pay. Remember you cannot get something for nothing—the world doesn't run that way.

*"Ain't Puttin' Out Nothin'" Club—popular student organization.

A-f-t-e-r-w-o-r-d

This is all there is—there isn't any more. If you have scanned our efforts, gentle reader, we appreciate your kind indulgence. We hope that, in some degree, you have been pleased by our sincere attempts to be interesting, although we recognize the inadequacy of our performance.

Please remember that our motto is: "The TRUTH ain't in us—we live to lie."

We are liars of the most damnable type—thriving upon falsehood and deceit to the exclusion of all veracity. We strive ever to promote that Utopian state with: "TRUTH forever on the scaffold, LIES always on the throne." In our egotistical enjoyment of vain conceit we denominate ourselves the Prince of Liars, for our conception of TRUTH is less than zero minus.

If you appear in our pages it is a sign of your prominence, prestige and popularity. If yo uare represented in "SOMETIMES" take no offense, for sometimes was written for always. Don't get peeved, for only the TRUTH hurts, and liars can't write the TRUTH—that would be a paradox, i. e., the Prince of Liars writing the TRUTH. Manifestly an impossibility.

We hope you will accept our puns and jokes in the same spirit in which they were written—"jest for fun"—for we sincerely believe that at heart we are all good sports.

Will It Come to This?

What's new in sports? (Turns the sheets of paper, reads) "Ole Miss co-eds in lively play defeat the rural maids from A. & M. by close score of 48 to 6 in annual intrastate football classic." Hoorah for our girls. (Reads again.) "Ole Miss loses to Harvard by single dropkick. Easterners score first defeat over Southern boys in years." Rotten. Why don't they get Sullivan back? This paper is getting rotten. This school is certainly a genius at selecting editors. (Telephone rings. Henry hurries to answer.)

Henry—Hello! Oh, just one minute.

Stude: Who's that now?

Henry: Oh, it's Miss Ruth Alexander. She wants a date Sunday night next week.

Stude: Oh, I don't know. Let's see. Oh, well, tell her I'm still sleeping—that you'll ask me when I get up. Maybe someone else'll call before then.

Henry: Yes, sir (repeats message over the telephone).

Stude (laughs with cynic indifference): By the way, Henry, isn't this Thursday?

Henry: Yes, sir.

Stude: Well, call the chemistry building and inform Dr. Swan that I have a matinee date this afternoon and will not be able to report for laboratory. Then send Miss Burnham a note that I'm indisposed this morning and will call tomorrow afternoon instead, and tell her not to be late. And, Henry, wake me in time for dinner, but don't let anyone disturb me before then—that was sure good "likker" last night.

Henry: Yes, sir.

Stude: What's that? You didn't try it, did you?

Henry: Oh, no sir. No, sir.

Stude: Oh, yes. And, Henry, answer those letters I got yesterday morning and open last night's mail. You must put a little more attention on my correspondence. We are getting fearfully behind. (Turns face to wall. Henry resumes activities at the desk. Stude soon heard snoring.)

You'll Believe It— Sometimes

If you've played with the hearts of women
When their lips were red with wine—
Laughed and joked, teased and coaxed,
With the girl that's out for a time;

If you're a regular Apollo
And as such you like to pose—
If feminine glances follow
Wherever your "Sheik"-ship goes;

If she daubs her cheek, pencils her eye
Till she looks like a poster girl—
With a cynic curl on her smiling lip
Spelling knowledge of the world;

If there's something beaming in her eyes,
A something that burns you like fire—
That makes your heart beat quickly
With the flame of a wild desire;

If you ramble and play, more at night than day,
And she's the pal of your waking hours—
Is ready to sip the flask from your hip,
Draw on your wad, or say it with flowers;

You'll Believe It—
Sometimes

Then you're a regular fellow, and she a pal—
And you'll laugh when they say you'll regret,
When the eyes that smiled will be dimmed with tears
Of the girl that men forgot.

When a fellow settles down he looks around
For a girl with an old-fashioned smile—
Then you'll forsake your erstwhile pet
For the girl you loved all the while.

But when you put your arms around her
And when you kiss her at her door—
You'll look in her eyes and wonder
If she's been kissed like that before.

Then your heart will ache to breaking,
As you gaze in those deep blue eyes,
And you'll guess at the past she's hiding—
Is she like the other girl—wise?

That's the saddest part of the story.
While the organ peals "Here Comes the Bride"—
With a doubt in your head to the altar you'll tread
As the other girl waits outside.

"Jahn & Ollier Again"

ACHIEVEMENT

The goal of every ambitious man and firm is typified in the rapid growth of the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company—the universal esteem in which their art and plates are held by the large national advertisers—and the enviable reputation for prompt deliveries which they enjoy.

Delivering this same high quality and careful personal supervision to schools has built up for us the largest college and high school annual engraving business in America—400 books yearly.

Thirty thousand square feet of floor space (4 floors) and over two hundred and fifty skilled employees are required to meet the constant demand for "J&O" commercial photographs, art, color process plates and photo engraving (one complete floor is devoted to color process work).

Intelligent supervision of all work by many skillful office service men eliminates your troubles. Sales service men sent everywhere.

Reminiscences and Reflections

ON THE COMPLETION OF OUR TASK, BY THE OUTGOING STAFF

ONIGHT our task is completed and we sit together in a silent office. The sound of the typewriters is hushed, the scent of paste is growing fainter, and the hum of a busy staff is replaced with a subdued expression of our hopes and fears. May we say that our fondest ambition has been to produce a volume worthy of the highest ideals and principles which our Alma Mater has always fostered? Though we realize the many imperfections of our work, we wish that our hopes and dreams may not fall too far short of the mark. Mingled with the relief of an exacting task completed, there is yet a feeling of regret that the child of our labor and fancy has reached maturity. The work has been hard and the hours long; but now it alone remains for us to await the decision of a fair and impartial jury, whose verdict we will accept unquestioningly. May we add as the last word in our behalf, that our work is the result of the best creation of which we were capable—we could do no more. And one last request we make—may your criticism be open and your judgment be merciful.

THE STAFF, '24.

Ambitions for the Future

BY THE STAFF OF 1925

The staff of the 1925 OLE MISS, realizing the significance of the task that has just begun for them, has already laid the foundations of the book, that their labors must bring from the realms of the visionary into the records of this institution. Through many years the University has served the state in the field of education, and among the numerous records of its great success there are the copies of the OLE MISS, which hold great promise for the future written in the records of the past. Though realizing that the standard of publication set by staffs of past years is a difficult one to uphold, we hope to profit by their mistakes, and it will be our consistent endeavor to raise it still higher. Yet the 1925 OLE MISS shall succeed or fail only in so far as it preserves an accurate record of the spirit of the school, which, though intangible, must permeate every page of the book. The present year has proven a landmark in the history of the University, and the year '25 promises to further crystallize the dreams of its supporters for the future, and transform them into a glorious realization. Though launched, the book now floats in the sea of uncertainty, and remains yet a thing of the future. A great spirit of enthusiasm has attended its christening, its success rests alone in the sincere labor of the staff, and enthusiastic support of the class of '25.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT

We wish to express our appreciation to the following firms:

To the Benson Ptg. Co., for their helpful suggestions and excellent service in printing.

* * *

To the Jahn & Ollier Engraving Company, for their cheerful co-operation and prompt execution in engravings.

* * *

To the Barnes-Echlin Studios for their artistic photography, and invaluable service in mounting panels.

* * *

The willing, prompt, and unselfish service and co-operation of each of the above firms played a big part in the publication, and to them belongs a large part of the credit for the work.

* * *

Our deepest appreciation and thanks go to Mr. Coles Phillips, whose generous assistance made possible one of the most attractive features of the book.

* * *

The editor wishes to express his appreciation of the cheerful co-operation of all members of the staff, whose hard work and late hours devoted to the service, alone made the work possible.
